Labor Relations Board Intervenes In L. A. Strike

SUPERVISOR WILL REOPEN PEACE TALK

Action Taken After Board Director Sends Word Negotiations Collapse

RIOTING IS RESUMED

Police Squads Kept Busy Dispersing Mobs During Night; Many Hurt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—The national labor board intervened today in the Los Angeles street car railway strike sending P. A. Donoghue, regional supervisor, from Seattle to Los Angeles to "reopen attempts to effect a truce."

The action was taken after Towne Nylander, regional labor board director, advised headquarters here that "negotiations so far have collapsed."

He said "the strike is continuing and present efforts at bringing together the opposing forces have pretty much ended."

NEGOTIATIONS CRASH; VIOLENCE RESUMED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Complete collapse of negotiations to settle the Los Angeles street car strike precipitated a new crisis today accompanied by renewed violence.

The death knell of current negotiations for a truce was sounded by the regional labor board in notifying the national labor relations board that Los Angeles Railway officials were enforcing a "lockout." The regional board said it could do "nothing further."

A conference was abandoned when the company said it would not reinstate strikers nor proceed with proposals previously outlined by Mayor Frank L. Shaw.

The company's refusal to arbitrate was the signal for new outbreaks, which since early Saturday have resulted in more than 50 casualties.

Car Overturned

Fifty men seized a street car as it reached an arterial crossing, cleared it of passengers and crew and overturned it. Traffic enroute to Hollywood and Santa Monica, was virtually halted for three hours before wrecking crews could right the car. Neither conductor nor motorman was injured. No one was arrested.

Occasional gunfire was directed at passing motor buses and street cars. Ralph Whitehead, a motorist, was picked in the ear by a bullet which passed through a bus and shattered his windshield.

Frank Morse, 60, collapsed of heart attack when struck on the arm by an iron bolt, fired from a slingshot.

Police riot squads were kept busy answering calls, most of which proved false. In some cases, however, motormen and conductors had been threatened or beaten.

The railway wired a denial to the National Labor Relations board that it was enforcing a "lockout." The company said only 487 employees had "voluntarily relinquished their jobs" by strike and that the remaining 3,200 workers "are overwhelmingly determined and have emphatically stated their position that striking men must not be re-employed."

"They," the telegram continued, "will consider such reinstatement as double crossing on part of company after having stood fast amidst injury, danger and villi-

BUSINESS MEN OF SANTA ANA PLAN CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

Farmers Of Nation Have Good Season

Government Reports Show Growers Have Much to Be Thankful for

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—The men who raised the turkeys, pumpkins, pigs, corn and the rest of the fare for the nation's Thanksgiving diners have, themselves, many things to be thankful for today, among them:

1. Increase of nearly a billion dollars in farmers' cash income so far in 1934.

2. About $736,000,000 from October crop and livestock marketings. AAA benefit payments and drought cattle purchases.

3. More than half a billion in bonuses through 1933 and 1934 crop control programs.

4. Some $1,500,000,000 in loans advanced through the Farm Credit Administration.

As millions of farm families made ready the holiday feast, the bureau of agricultural economics supplied sauce for their dessert with the announcement that from January to November—despite ravages of an unprecedented drought—they had taken in $5,045,000,000. In last year's period cash farm income was $4,099,000,000.

Substantially higher prices for virtually all important crops were reflected. Most of the increase came from marketings, which yielded $4,614,000,000 compared to $3,957,000,000.

Last month alone brought $736,000,000 to farmers compared to $659,000,000 in September and $629,000,000 in October, 1933. Sales supplied $48,000,000 more than a month previous.

Particularly flush today are 71,827 farmers to whom Monday's mail brought $3,774,423 in AAA benefit checks.

The 3,000,000 farmers in the government production adjustment "partnership" have received altogether $519,292,546. Wheat growers got $137,453,772. Cotton planters have received $196,587,843 in rental and parity payments and an additional $51,144,363 through government cotton options.

WARSHIPS STAND BY AS SOLDIERS MOVE

HONG KONG, Nov. 28.—(UP)—While American and British warships stood by, Chinese government troops today prepared to defend the city of Wuchow in Kwangsi province from the expected attack of the communist army.

The U. S. gunboat Mindanao and H. M. S. Robin already were on the scene and the H. M. S. Cicada was ready to proceed at once in order to protect foreign interests in event the anticipated battle developed.

Cantonese troops were reported advancing on the main body of the communists, who were concentrated northwest of Wuchow after a costly defeat, in which the national government soldiers killed 1000 and captured 2000 rebels.

PRESIDENT RESUMES STUDY OF PROGRAM

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today resumed his study of highlights of his 1935 legislative program and surveyed the national business situation laid before him by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper.

Roper came to Warm Springs after a swing through the middle west and south. The expressed strong approval of the administration's determination to keep next year's normal expenditures within the revenues, explaining that such a step was all that industry needed as the "go signal."

Roper's visit followed that of Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic majority leader who had outlined salient features of new legislation

PEOPLE OF SANTA ANA WILL EXPRESS THEIR GRATITUDE AT THANKSGIVING SERVICES

CHURCH FOLK of Santa Ana will give their thanks in houses of worship tomorrow, at least two Thanksgiving services being announced for tomorrow morning.

A union service is planned under the auspices of the Santa Ana Ministerial Union at 10:30 a. m. in the First M. E. church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, where the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church will deliver the sermon, his subject being "The Habit of Thanksgiving."

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, has announced annual Thanksgiving service at the same hour at 920 North Main street. The subject of the lesson-sermon there will be "Thanksgiving," the golden text being taken from Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians: "Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."

The Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First M. E. church, will preside over the union service in that church. Other ministers of the city, in addition to the Rev. Mr. Kelly, will participate in conduct of the service, which will include special music.

Opening with an organ prelude, the service program will include a hymn, "We Praise Thee, O God," after which the Rev. E. W. Matz, pastor of the Evangelical church, will offer the prayer of Thanksgiving.

An anthem by the choir of the First M. E. church will be followed by the reading of the president's Thanksgiving proclamation by the Rev. Samuel Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church.

A tenor solo by Marquise Hare will precede the Rev. Mr. Kelly's sermon, which will be followed by benediction and the postlude.

ENGLAND PLANS TO DOUBLE ITS BARES IN WOOD FORCES IN AIR BEING CHECKED

Announcement Made During Debate on Germany's Rearmament Moves

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—A heavy increase in Britain's air force—almost double the present strength—was announced officially in the House of Commons today during debate on Germany's rearmament, which was pictured as a grave menace to Britain.

After Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, had demanded that Britain prepare to defend herself before it is too late and had described the danger of Germany's air force—which he said would be nearly double Britain's by the end of 1937 at the present rate—Salisbury promised the house that the government would act.

He revealed for the first time Britain's official estimate of Germany's air strength, placing it probably between 600 and 1000 aircraft.

Capt. Anthony Eden earlier had revealed that 96 aircraft engines had been exported from the United Kingdom to Germany in the first ten months of this year, and said there was nothing illegal in such sales.

Earlier in the day the possibility of war in Europe had been mirrored by Lloyd's insurance underwriters who announced they were tightening their war risk insurance regulations.

Lloyd's no longer will guarantee that their rates will remain at a given level for more than 12 hours. A premium of 5 per cent

VINSON OUTLINES BIG NAVY PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Rep. Carl Vinson, D. Ga., chairman of the house naval affairs committee, said today he would demand that congress appropriate funds to build five warships for every three constructed by Japan and Douglas Fairbanks, named as co-sponsor, did not defend themselves against Lord Ashley's charges of misconduct.

Fairbanks, whose married life with Mary Pickford went on the rocks during his association with Lady Ashley, was assessed the costs of the proceedings, estimated at $19,000 or more.

The decision was a decree nisi, which becomes absolute in six months. The proceedings were almost perfunctory. The necessary evidence was introduced by Lord Ashley and George Edwards, secretary of Fairbanks, and then Sir Boyd Merriam, presiding, granted the decree.

Preview To Be Held On December 3

Streets and Stores Will Be Decorated and Opened Next Monday

ADVANCING plans for the biggest Christmas celebration ever staged in Orange county, a group of representative Santa Ana merchants met yesterday to discuss the affair.

It was definitely decided that at 6 p. m. Monday, December 3, all stores in Santa Ana will be closed, and all lights turned off, both in the stores and windows. At 7 p. m. sharp, a bomb which can be heard throughout the business district will be fired.

When the bomb explodes, the special Christmas decorative lighting in the business streets will be turned on; all stores will turn on their lights, and open their doors for a preview of the greatest stock of Christmas merchandise in the history of Santa Ana.

Clerks will be on hand to make sales if desired, but no one will be urged to buy, those in charge announced. The real purpose of the event is a preview which will formally inaugurate the Christmas season. A Christmas musical program, which will be broadcast from the top of the First National bank, will start at 8:30 p. m. and continue until 8 p. m. Fifteen local persons will appear on the program.

The meeting yesterday was the final one in preparation for the Christmas events, which will include other featured activities. The merchants authorized a special committee consisting of Walter Steinberger and J. E. Coyote to conduct a merchants' Christmas window display contest. The committee met immediately after the merchant meeting, and announced details of the contest.

The committee requested all merchants in Santa Ana to enter the contest by dressing their windows in holiday motif. Judges for the event will include E. E. Houseman of Pomona, F. V. Volk of Fullerton and Edward Smith of Long Beach. Judging will be based upon sales appeal, Christmas motif, originality and beauty. The Sweepstakes prize will be a beautiful silver loving cup suitably engraved to be awarded the store winning first place. There will be two cash awards, $10 and $5, to be given to the window men winning first and second place. The loving cup soon will be on display at the Lorenz jewelry store.

Merchants made a request that all merchants carry announcements of the Christmas preview of December 3 in their daily advertising.

M. R. Foster of Foster and Barker was authorized by the merchants to proceed with arrangements for the broadcast the evening of December 3 and for daily Christmas broadcast from December 17 through Christmas, to consist of about half an hour program at noon and about an hour early each evening. Miss Ruth Armstrong will have charge of the musical talent to appear in the December 3 broadcast.

Phil M. Brown, of the finance committee, announced that the special Christmas trees for the

BLAME TRUCK FIRM IN DEATH OF TRIO

WICKENBURG, Ariz., Nov. 28.—(UP)—The Pacific Tank and Truck company of Los Angeles and E. W. Doyle, 41, Huntington Park, Calif., truck driver, were held jointly responsible by a coroner's jury today for a crash in which three persons were burned to death.

A loaded tank truck under Doyle's command raced out of control early yesterday and crashed into a farmhouse. In the ensuing explosion Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Davis and an unidentified hitchhiker, who was driving the truck at the time, were burned fatally. The jury's verdict criticized the trucking company for keeping Doyle on long duty.

GAME OF "ROBBER" IS FATAL TO BOY

RENO, Nev., Nov. 28.—(UP)—Ray Boland, 13, one of two boys seriously wounded in a game of "robber" died here today and authorities immediately prepared to charge Herbert Johnson, 25, their playmate, whose mother said he had the mind of a child of 19, with murder.

Tommy Hill, 13, the second lad, was near death. His serious condition was unchanged.

Hill told District Attorney Melvin Jepson that he and Boland were playing last night in a clubhouse in the basement of an apartment house managed by Johnson's mother when Johnson appeared suddenly and began firing from a small calibre rifle.

DUKE OF KENT POLICEMEN T O AND PRINCESS STAGE ANNUAL WED THURSDAY BALL THURSDAY

Thousands Pour Into London for Ceremony; All England Rejoices

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Trains, buses and motor cars poured thousands into London today as carpenters hammered the last nails into the street stands and flags and bunting were displayed in preparation for the wedding tomorrow of the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina.

There was a real air of carnival. Every one seemed interested in the popular, pretty Greek princess and the Duke, the king's youngest son.

So great was the rejoicing that for comparison people were going back beyond other royal weddings of recent years to recall the day of King George's coronation in June, 1911.

The great city seemed so eager to honor the bride and groom, perhaps because there was no atmosphere of an arranged wedding, only the appearance of a true romance.

LAND WITHDRAWN FROM SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold I.ck's announced today issuance of an executive order by President Roosevelt temporarily withdrawing from settlement, location, sale or homesteading approximately 173,000,000 acres of public lands in 12 western states.

The vast area affected is in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The far-reaching and unprecedented order, which Ickes said probably would be in effect no longer than six months, is to effect conservation aims of the Taylor grazing law. The United Press forecast exclusively last week that such action would be taken.

FRENCH FARMERS IN CLASH WITH POLICE

PARIS, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Farmers battled police in the streets of Paris this afternoon, protesting against agricultural conditions. The trouble came at the end of a meeting in Wagram hall near the Arc de Triomphe to discuss the ills of the farmers. Earlier crippled veterans had demonstrated, demanding pensions.

The farmers fought with heavy cordons of police. Expecting further trouble, several thousand police were held in reserve near the Arc de Triomphe and along the Champs Elysees.

The agricultural manifestation organized by the French Agrarian and Peasant party, was attended by 10,000 farmers, who loudly protested their inability to sell wheat, cattle and wine, stressing that it was not the consumers who profit by the prevailing low prices.

BODY FILLED WITH BULLET WOUNDS, SAID

Department Of Justice Announces Finding Body In Ditch Near Chicago

WOUNDED IN BATTLE

Public Enemy No. 1 Dies Of Wounds Received As He Kills Two Officers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Baby Face Nelson, accused slayer of three federal agents, was found dead in a ditch near Niles Center, Ill., the department of justice announced today.

His body was riddled with bullets.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, announcing the finding of Nelson's body, said the Dillinger gang machine gunner had died of wounds suffered yesterday in his gun battle in which two federal agents were killed.

"There were five shots in his stomach, two in his chest and he had been wounded in the leg," Cummings said.

The place where his body was found is about 15 miles from Chicago, the justice department said.

"Our men were the ones who shot him," Cummings said. Some of Nelson's clothes, it was said, were first found by federal agents in their hunt for public enemy No. 1.

Riddled Body

Not far away they came across the riddled body of the man who was regarded as one of the most ruthless killers who ever ravaged through the midwest.

Department officials did not disclose immediately whether they had found any trace of the man and woman who reputedly were with Nelson yesterday in the battle in which Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Agent Herman E. Hollis fell before machine gun fire.

Nelson was hit by either Cowley or Hollis, or perhaps by both before he mortally wounded them yesterday.

His wounds bled so profusely, department officials said, that he had been forced to change his clothing twice. The trail of the bloody clothing led them to the ditch where Nelson had crawled off to die.

Carry Out Rule

Thus, the federal sharpshooters, even at the cost of their own lives, have sent Nelson the way of John Dillinger and Pretty Boy Floyd and have carried out the foremost rule of the federal service—that the killing of an agent must be avenged.

Months before Nelson's battle yesterday, he had been named by the justice department as the man who killed Agent W. Carter Baum near Rhineclager, Wis., April 22, when Dillinger and his mob shot their way out of an attempted federal trap.

The government placed a price of $5,000 on Nelson's head and offered $2,500 for information leading to his capture. As government officers the men who killed Nelson would have been barred from a share in the reward money.

RODRIGUEZ DEMANDS PAYMENT OF DEBTS

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—(UP)—As one of his last acts of public office President Rodriguez, who will be succeeded on Nov. 30 by General Alazaro Cardenas, today ordered the payment of more than 20,000,000 pesos (about $5,000,000) to apply to the public debt, government bonds and other obligations.

The sum included more than 3,000,000 pesos payment on loans made to Mexico by American and British oil companies.

The president said he desired to turn over the presidency with no commitments pending and with fewer liabilities and more assets than when the present administration took office.

Among the payments ordered was the retirement of more than 9,000,000 pesos of interior public debt bonds and 1,000,000 pesos on highway contracts.

A. LINCOLN'S THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 28.—A newspaper editor was one of the first to observe the significance of Thanksgiving as celebrated nationally for the first time on November 28, 1863, according to the noted Lincoln student, Dr. Louis A. Warren, historian of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company.

The editorial referred to appeared in "Harper's Weekly," an illustrated newspaper of the period, and said in part:

"It is a fortunate circumstance that our annual thank-offering festival has become a national affair in which the whole people participate upon a common day.... We forget that we are states and come to offer tribute to God in our capacity as a nation. The festival thus becomes more significant not only in its altered character but in its larger suggestions and motives."

Dr. Warren called attention to the fact that the final Emancipation Address, and the first national Thanksgiving Proclamation all came from the pen of Lincoln during the year 1863. Gettysburg Day preceded Thanksgiving Day just one week.

The proclamation for Thanksgiving, issued on October 3, 1863, follows:

Proclamation for Thanksgiving
October 3, 1863

"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of almighty God.

"In the midst of a civil war of unequalled magnitude and severity, which has sometimes seemed to foreign states to invite and provoke their aggressions, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere except in the theater of military conflict; while that theater has been greatly contracted by the advancing armies and navies of the Union.

"Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the ax has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom.

"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the most high God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

"It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow-citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of thanksgiving and praise our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens. And I recommend to them that, while offering up the ascriptions justly due to Him for singular deliverances and blessings, they do also,

WILL ROGERS says:

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 28. (To the Editor of The Register:—) I wrote a little "gag" the other day about "appealing to the President for a guarantee," and I bet a lot of you thought it just to be writing, well, get this headlined in the papers today. C. L. Bardo, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, asks the President the following: "Business must have more definite ideas as to the direction in which the government is headed." I can just see Mr. Roosevelt rushing in with a guarantee reading about as follows: "Nobody guaranteed me anything when I took over this job, no man gambles more than a President of the U. S. So you will pardon me if I am not able to guarantee business that it won't lose."

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

cation from striking men. They emphasize that if a strike is threatened in the future even if only by a few men, all of the employees will argue they have nothing to lose by walkout because the company will take them back when the strike is over."

The statement declared service has been maintained "on normal schedules" and that patronage has fallen off only 10 per cent.

The regional labor board placed the onus for the strike's continuance on the railway. The board adopted a resolution, proposed by Manchester Boddy, newspaper publisher and board member, stating:

"Whereas the striking workmen have expressed their willingness to return to work, submitting all differences between them and the company to such form of settlement as may be determined by the regional labor board, or by arbitration or by fact-finding commission to be appointed by the President of the United States, and whereas in the public interest an immediate termination of the strike is imperative, therefore be it resolved, that this board is of the opinion that a settlement of the strike hinges upon the reinstatement of striking employees."

with humble penitence for our national perverseness and disobedience, commend to his tender care all those who have become widows, orphans, mourners, or sufferers in the lamentable civil strife in which we are unavoidably engaged, and fervently implore the interposition of the almighty hand to heal the wounds of the nation, and to restore it as soon as may be consistent with the Divine purposes, to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquillity, and union.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this third day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-eighth.

program sent $7,000,000 into the drought zone. Sheep men got $4,425,452.

The AAA reported $132,067,326 paid to corn-hog contract signers and announced a new plan for next year involving payment of $150,000,000 to $165,000,000. More than $150,000,000 is still to be paid under this year's program.

Another item in the government's Thanksgiving tidings to farmers was the farm credit administration's estimate that more than $1,500,000,000 had been loaned. Land banks loans totaled $723,000,000, $520,000,000; production credit associations, $76,000,000; regional agricultural credit corporations, $210,000,000; emergency crop loans, $32,000,000; and banks for cooperatives, $55,000,000.

DUKE OF KENT AND PRINCESS WED THURSDAY

The columns of stories in the newspapers were read avidly. Today the printed order for the wedding was made public.

As they knelt at the altar of Westminster Abbey a few minutes after 11 a. m. tomorrow, the princess, for instance, will say:

"I, Marina, take thee, George Edward Alexander Edmund to be my wedded husband."

When—and if—the Prince of Wales marries, his bride will take "Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David."

Princess Marina scored a triumph at a Buckingham Palace reception last night in honor of herself and the Duke. Eight hundred women and brilliantly uniformed men shook hands with her and voted her charming.

Crowds in the streets watch eagerly for royalty connected with the wedding. They overflow into the streets and stop traffic until police reserves arrive and straighten the snarl.

Hotels, restaurants and theaters reaped their harvest. All were filled. St. James' palace rooms filled with the 875 wedding presents, of inestimable value. In a special showcase there are a ruby and diamond necklace and earrings, a pearl and diamond necklace and bracelet, a ruby and diamond brooch, two diamond tiaras and a sapphire and diamond tiara, earrings, bracelets and pendants—the last the gifts of the queen.

There is a modest lamp shade from Miss Kate Fox, the princess' childhood nurse and a guest of honor at the wedding. The Queen of Holland has a magnificent oval paneled screen. Dutch scenes painted by Masters. The Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and the Princess Royal and her husband, the Earl of Harewood, gave jointly a suite of Adam furniture. Noel Coward is represented by a 20 volume set of his works. There are presents, simple and ornate, from all over the earth.

Queen Mary's gown for the wedding will be of pastel blue brocade velvet—a blue background on which there is a classic floral design of Australian gold—on princess lines, the skirt revealing an undergarment of cloth of gold. There is a capelet of the same velvet lined with pale gold and trimmed at the collar with Russian sables. The hat is blue and gold velvet, trimmed with pastel blue South African ostrich feathers. The queen will wear diamonds in her corsage and will wear the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. She is the only lady of the Garter.

Seats in the stands lining the route of the wedding procession to the abbey sold at prices ranging up to $200. The standard price for good seats is $50, but they are re-selling at a premium.

son will be paid out, the department declined to say at once. It is guarding jealously the source of the tip that led agents yesterday to the rendezvous near Barrington, Ill., which resulted in death to both sides in the encounter.

Save for John Hamilton, Nelson was the last survivor of the Dillinger gang that terrorized the mid-west for months.

Dillinger was trapped and slain outside of a Chicago theater July 22. Tommy Carroll was killed by Waterloo, Ia., police and Homer Vai Meter by St. Paul officers. Others met similar fates.

BANDIT ABANDONED BY WIFE AT FINISH

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (UP)—George (Baby Face) Nelson was found dead in a roadside ditch northwest of Chicago today, apparently abandoned by his wife and the companion who joined him in a battle last yesterday with Federal Agents Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis.

The two agents were killed in the fire from Nelson's machine gun but before they went down the bullets from their own guns had fatally wounded America's public enemy number 1 and the principal remaining member of the gang of John Dillinger.

Nelson staggered off the field of battle near Barrington, Ill., climbed into the agents' car and was carried away. The car was found today blood-soaked and bullet-riddled in Winnetka. A short time later Nelson's body was found. Apparently he had been thrown out by his confederates.

The fellow-workers of Hollis and Cowley, both of whom left behind wives and children, set out immediately after the battle yesterday to trace Nelson. They found the trail plucked out clearly with bloody clothing discarded by Nelson as he vainly sought to staunch the flow of blood from his wounds.

Although Cowley and Hollis were at a disadvantage combatting Nelson's machine gun with less effective weapons they were veterans in the business and their aim was deadly. Five of their bullets hit Nelson in the stomach, two lodged in his chest and one struck his leg.

Contrary to belief that Nelson would head for the north woods country of Wisconsin, it apparently was decided when the seriousness of his wounds were ascertained to remain close to Chicago. The car in which Nelson escaped was found at Winnetka, a suburb only a few miles north of metropolitan Chicago, and 30 miles east of Barrington.

From the blood-soaked car the trail led south and westward, skirting the city limits of Chicago but well within the densely populated area.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 28.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam's economy program got away to an early start when one Ralph appointee was dismissed and another resigned in time to escape a descending axe.

Fred Meyer, chief of the division of service and supply, was dismissed and that $6000 job abolished. Simon J. Lubin, one-man state chamber of commerce bureau who also received $500 a month, resigned. He will not be replaced.

The 1933 legislature paved the way for both removals. In the case of Lubin, it prevented use of department of finance funds for the bureau of commerce, so although Lubin was able to maintain his salary, he had no staff or office equipment. He kept an office in the state building at San Francisco, did most of his own typing, and spent his time drumming up foreign trade.

Rumor has it that EPIC leaders will storm into the legislature demanding a complete investigation of the "lie factory" and propaganda campaign which they insist were responsible, in large measure, for the defeat of Upton Sinclair, democratic candidate for governor.

The EPIC people also will want to investigate the "joy riding" unnecessary trips at state expense. They are thinking particularly of a junket some boxing commission made to New York to attend a commission meeting there. The trip coincided neatly with the Baer-Camera fight.

Other factions in the assembly, still a bit peevish because Sinclair changed his party affiliations from socialist to democratic and ran away with the Bourbon nomination, want to order a re-registration of all voters in the state, and make it necessary for a candidate to be a member of a party two years before being eligible to qualify in an election.

Another proposal would make it more difficult to qualify new political parties. Eight parties qualified last summer, only 14,449 signatures being needed on petitions for that purpose. Under a new plan, each party would have to have from one to five per cent of the total registered vote. This might eliminate the liberty, commonwealth, communist, socialist and possibly the progressive parties if the percentage were set at five. Only the democratic, republican and possibly prohibition parties would remain.

Democrats are beginning to make some efforts to unite the party, bringing EPIC and ANIEPIC forces together in an attempt to strengthen the position of the organization.

A split in the EPIC organization was threatened, and party affairs generally were considered in a mess.

Republicans viewed the splits with satisfaction. Although they, too, have insurgents in the ranks, they feel they will be able to control the legislative situation.

The legislature promises to develop a continuous round of fights. Its biggest tasks will be to work over the governor's proposed budget and devise new means of raising revenue. There will be major opposition to almost any kind of tax measure advanced with the possible exception of an income tax, which seems to meet the favor of a large majority.

But if anybody—and this is almost certain to happen—proposes a severance tax on oil, thus taking some $25,000,000 from the oil companies during the next biennium; or an increase in the sales tax, or broadening of the sales tax to include electricity and water, or increasing the gasoline tax and motor vehicle fees, the walls of protest from oil producers, utilities, anti-sales tax forces, motorists and automobile clubs will rock the capitol dome.

The utilities would like to have the state retain the present system of collecting taxes on the basis of gross receipts, rather than returning utility property to county tax rolls. The change will cost the state $65,000,000 per biennium, aid children and that he said he was "J. C. Malone, of Vallejo."

The evidence in the hands of police—after collapse of a dozen promising "leads" on the case—includes:

1.—Finding of a Pontiac automobile, 1933 model, in Peck's garage at McVeytown, Pa., near Dunsmuir, where the bodies of the man and woman were found. The car had no license plates but bore the serial number "502138T." The "Malone" family may have traveled in the car, police said.

2.—Identification by tourist camp operators of blankets and clothing found on the victims' persons as the property of the Malone family when they stayed for two days at Langhorne, Pa., near Philadelphia.

3.—Partial identification by three other tourist camp operators of Gettysburg of photographs of the victims, who spent the night at a camp there.

State police, following each meagre clue, placed greatest emphasis upon the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Dill, of Langhorne, who in an hour's conference at Harrisburg with state police officials, identified the blankets and clothing.

Mrs. Dill, police said, was shown a photograph of the dead woman. "That's the woman who stopped at my camp," police said she replied.

DESERT WIND IN VISIT TO COUNTY

For the first time in many months, Orange county was visited today by an unwelcome desert wind.

The wind swept in from the desert shortly before noon and promised to keep blowing for the benefit of Thanksgiving celebrations. Agricultural interests were little concerned if the winds do not increase their velocity. Recent rains and a general healthy condition of trees and crops will prevent extensive damage unless the winds are prolonged, it was reported.

The counties by about $75,000,000 and cost the utilities $10,000,000 extra because their property will be taxed just like the ordinary property owner's.

A special election would be necessary to keep utility taxes on the state's revenue rolls, and officials fear an election because of the possibility of sales tax repeal.

Considerable merriment circulated in the capitol when official campaign costs were reported. Merriam forces were reputed to have spent $1,000,000, but the governor's expense slip showed his campaign cost him only $464. Raymond L. Haight spent $859, and Sinclair splurged with $1,224.

"Cheapest campaigns on record," remarked one wise cracker. "It used to cost at least $250,000 for the winning candidate's campaign, and here Merriam was elected for $464. I guess everybody got advertising, radio time, printing and transportation free."

CHILDERS LEAVES $44,000 ESTATE

The late Walter C. Childers, of Santa Ana, widely known poultry authority, left a $44,000 estate to his widow, Mrs. Emma Childers, it was revealed today by his will, on file for probate in superior court.

The widow's petition to probate the will stated that it consisted of both real and personal property. The will mentioned that no provision was made for a daughter, Tessie Childers, 32, and a son, Vilas, 28, because the father felt that their mother would provide for them.

was quoted against the risk of war within three months involving certain nations. The premium was 8 per cent for six months and 10 per cent for one year.

Latest figures on Britain's air strength showed her in sixth place behind France, Russia, U. S. A., Italy and Japan—in that order—with a total of 1434 military planes, only $50 of which are first line.

Both Churchill and Baldwin deprecated the possibility that an immediate war was in prospect. In disclosing Britain's air defense plans, Baldwin said that "since July, over 90 sites for air-dromes have been inspected, and sites for 11 new stations selected. An additional flying training school has already been opened and another is to be opened in April."

street decoration have arrived, and the stringing of the special wiring for the street program will start Friday, November 30. The trees will be put up the following day and on Monday will be ready for the big event Monday night.

Claude McDowell, chairman of the merchants division, who presided, also is serving as a special committee to request wholesalers to take part in the financing of the Christmas celebration. He reported that about $100 would be forthcoming from that source.

A special arrangement of decorations for Fourth and Main streets, where most of the traffic passes, was decided upon in the event that there are sufficient funds. Brown was to take charge of this activity. Plans for a community tree and children's party on December 17 were left in the hands of E. L. Lucas and Ivy Stein.

FESTIVE MEALS PLANNED FOR THANKSGIVING

Tempting Thanksgiving dinners will be served to those persons who are at public and semi-public institutions tomorrow, it was learned today in a check made by The Register.

Boys at San Juan Capistrano Hot Springs CCC camp will sit down to a Thanksgiving Day table loaded with all kinds of good food, including stuffed celery, stuffed roast turkey, giblet gravy, candied sweet potatoes, creamed peas, shrimp salad, cranberry sauce, mince pie, mixed candies, ice cream, mixed nuts, fruit cake, bread and butter, cream, sugar and coffee.

The Salvation Army Shelter in Santa Ana will serve roast turkey and dressing, cranberries, sweet potatoes, bread and butter, coffee, milk, sugar, pumpkin pie, peas, gravy.

Youths at the Santa Ana Juvenile home will have baked ham, mashed Irish potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, peas, perfection salad, apples, pumpkin pie, milk, bread and butter, for their Thanksgiving Day dinner.

The Orange County General Hospital will serve roast pork, cranberries, mashed potatoes, apple sauce, vegetables, pumpkin pie, coffee, milk, sugar.

Inmates of the Orange county jail will get roast pork, cranberry sauce, fruit salad, candied yams, celery, pumpkin pie, coffee, gravy, vegetables, bread and butter.

DRUG STORE BANDIT FACES PRISON TERM

Convicted of first degree robbery, in connection with a $100 holdup of the Bristol drug store in Santa Ana, James O. Ford today faced a sentence of not less than five years at San Quentin. He was scheduled to be sentenced late today by Superior Judge H. G. Ames.

The jury at Ford's trial yesterday took the case at 3:37 p. m. and returned its verdict at 8:10 p. m. Since the crime was committed with a deadly weapon, Ford was not eligible for probation and made no application.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 28.—The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger was observed with a dinner party at the Brentlinger home this week, a party of eight being entertained. Mrs. Brentlinger was the recipient of a number of anniversary gifts.

Those present were the honoree's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Van Ford, of Los Angeles; her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard, and daughter, Miss Robina Brentlinger, who arrived home Saturday night from a motor trip of several weeks in the east; son, Ernest Brentlinger, and the honoree and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger.

A WORD OF COMFORT
The moment you forget the source from which you came,
your life purpose becomes blurred
and uncertain; Heaven itself becomes fiction to you.
Remember that the God of the ages, when He called you into being, had a task in mind which you alone could perform. Determine that neither failure, heartache nor disappointment shall frustrate His mighty purpose.
Proceed as confidently as when the heavens seemed to smile upon you, and you will find life
full of fascinating tasks.

EXPECT SAVING OF $400,000 IN THIS WAY

Expecting to save more than $400,000 by having the government engineers do the work, the county supervisors late yesterday passed a resolution requesting the government to reject all bids for Newport harbor dredging, which went far above the government's estimate of the cost.

The lowest bid received was $1,122,635, which, with the estimate of $70,000 for supervision and engineering expense, would bring the cost to $1,192,635, as compared to the $788,000, including engineering and supervision expense, estimated by the government engineers. The difference is $404,635.

Government engineers have expressed themselves as confident that they can do the work at the estimate they made, and the government is said to be prepared to handle the project, in view of the size of the bids. The Standard Construction company had filed the low bid quoted.

Adding that bid to the $598,000 cost of the jetties, now being constructed under contract with the Rohl-Conley company, the total harbor cost would be $1,790,635, which would be too uncomfortably close to using up the $1,920,000 available for the project, it was felt. Possible unforeseen exigencies might run the cost up above the amount available, it was feared.

But with the government doing the work at the lower figure, the $404,635 saved will give a comfortable working margin to take care of unforeseen extras, or provide a refund to the government and the taxpayers if it is not needed, a member of the board pointed out yesterday.

The resolution requested the government to do the work "by force account," after rejecting bids.

PRORATE COVERING SWEET POTATO CROP

Sweet potato and yam growers were informed today by the farm advisor's office that prorate stamps may be obtained on Tuesdays and Fridays from 9:30 to 10:30 a. m. at Knott's Berry place on Grand avenue, one mile south of Buena Vista Park; from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. at Greeley's place, 1918 Santa Ana street, Costa Mesa.

Many growers are experiencing difficulty in marketing their sweet potatoes and yams, according to Assistant Farm Advisor Eric E. Eastman, and the above schedule has been arranged to accommodate them. The stickers also may be secured in the produce section of the Terminal building, Seventh street market, Los Angeles, from 9 to 10 a. m. and from 10 to 11 p. m. daily.

Pending the official acceptance of Orange county into the Southern California prorate zone, the growers in this county are entering into the prorate voluntarily, as the simplest means of marketing their produce since buyers are unwilling to accept the sweet potatoes unless labeled with the regular prorate stamps.

The application for inclusion into the prorate zone has been signed by most of the growers in Orange county. Those who have not signed may do so this week at the residence of W. O. Eades on West Fifth street and Newhope road, or at the farm advisor's office.

FINE FEATURES ON WALKER PROGRAM

Two outstanding feature films have been secured for Thanksgiving day audiences at Walker's State theater, Manager Vic Walker announced today. They are "Here Comes the Navy" and "The Masquerader."

The former is a picture of romance and action with a genuine navy setting starring James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Gloria Stuart, while the latter is a drama of English political life featuring Ronald Colman in a dual role. He steps into the shoes of an important member of parliament who is on the downgrade as the result of disputation, and brings honor to the family and position. Elissa Landi has an important role. The program also includes a novelty, "The Lost Race."

Court Notes

Leonard Murillo, 24, 305 Spurgeon street, was booked at the county jail by probation officers yesterday to serve a six-month term for non-support of a minor child. The sentence started November 23 and ran concurrently with a five-day sentence for drunkenness, which was the reason that a suspension of the six-month term was lifted in the Santa Ana justice court.

Louis Pratt paid $2 of an $5 speeding fine in police court yesterday.

New Fields Farce At Broadway For Thanksgiving Day

W. C. Fields' latest comedy, "It's a Gift," in which he and Baby LeRoy renew their standing firm feud, is the firm fare for Thanksgiving day patrons of the Broadway theater. The comedy will show for three days.

Fields plays the part of the head of a family which eats him out of house and home. He finally realizes his dream of a lifetime by buying what he was led to believe was an orange grove in California, only to find that he has been gipped and that he had nothing more than a barren bit of desert. How he finally comes out a winner and the experiences of the family in a cross-country tour in an ancient car provide hilarious comedy. Special short subjects for the Thanksgiving day program, which will run continuously starting at 1 p. m., include a Mickey Mouse cartoon, "The Dog Napper," a Hal Roxy comedy, "Syncopated City," a beautiful travelogue, "Holland in Tulip Time," and Register World News events.

MUSICAL COMEDY AT WEST COAST

A picture heralded as a thrilling revelation in musical spectacles, "Flirtation Walk," with an all star cast headed by Dick Powell, with Ruby Keeler playing the romantic lead opposite him, and Pat O'Brien in the role of a hard-boiled army sergeant, opens a three-day engagement tomorrow. Thanksgiving day, at the West Coast theater. Continuous shows will be screened starting at 1 p. m.

Two great spectacles are featured in the film, which concerns a romance of youth filled with thrilling adventure and dramatic situations. The first is an authentic Hawaiian love feast, and the second is the presentation of West Point's Hundredth Night play. In this number Powell sings three new songs.

Short subjects include the first of a series of American historical shorts, "Boston Tea Party," widely acclaimed by patriotic and veteran organizations, a PopEye cartoon, "The Dance Contest," and World News events.

Police News

Charged with two counts of petty theft, C. C. Benedict, 42, 1426 Fruit street, was booked at the county jail yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff James Musick, and was later released without bond by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

Everette Breland, 29, Los Angeles, was arrested by Los Angeles police and brought to the Orange county jail last night by Deputy Sheriff James Workman and Fred Humiston on a statutory offense.

C. J. Dowds, 624 South Broadway and Robert Terwilliger, 2014 Rush street, reported to police yesterday that their bicycles had been stolen.

Henry A. Brown, 43, Long Beach was jailed last night for drunkenness by Deputy Sheriffs Claude Potter and Fred Swayze, after he had driven his car into a ditch at Placentia and Yorba roads.

Three shotguns and one rifle were stolen from the home of C. W. Townsend, 456 Santa Fe way, Orange, he reported to Santa Ana police yesterday.

DISTRIBUTION OF FOODSTUFFS STARTED HERE

Distribution of surplus government foods was started in 20 different parts of the county yesterday afternoon to families in need of relief while the case load on SERRA work relief and direct relief amounted to more than 4000, the highest figure in the history of SERRA here.

Under the direction of Terrence H. Halloran, county SERRA director, workers began distribution of 4500 pounds of rice, 425 cases of canned peaches, 24 cans of the case, and 640 cases of corned beef. More surplus will arrive here in the near future for distribution next month.

The case load stood at 4103 in a weekly report made to members of the SERRA committee at the weekly session yesterday afternoon. There were 312 new cases opened during the week, an average of more than 1300 a month, the largest intake since SERRA was started. There are 1049 cases yet unreported, with 2301 actually engaged in work relief. A total of 628 different families were given direct relief. The report showed that $26,733.31 was expended on the weekly SERRA payroll.

Most of the afternoon session yesterday was devoted to a general discussion of SERRA problems, the outstanding of which is a lack of projects in Santa Ana which will put Santa Ana men to work. It was pointed out that there are more men in this city that need to be placed on work relief than anywhere else in the county, but there are no projects in operation here which will absorb a large number of men. It was estimated that out of more than 800 men on work relief in Santa Ana less than 300 are working in this city.

NO OBJECTION TO RETURN OF GAMING OUTFIT

The $40,000 gambling "lay-out" seized from the gambling ship Monte Carlo last May by Sheriff Logan Jackson's men, has been handed back to the owner, Ed V. Turner by sheriff's officers, it was learned today.

Inability of county authorities to convict Turner and eight companions prosecuted at Seal Beach on gambling charges led to a demand by Turner for return of the roulette wheels, crap tables and other equipment, which Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted in a court order filed yesterday. The equipment had been held as evidence in the cases.

Turner's motion for return of the equipment was heard by Judge Ames last Friday. The district attorney's office did not appear at the hearing, which also involved dissolution of an injunction obtained by the district attorney to prevent return of the equipment. Attorney F. C. Drumm, representing Sheriff Jackson, was present in court, and informed the court that the motion of Turner was not opposed because no ground could be found for opposing it.

The New Deal and the Joneses

CCC Gives John's Former Pal A New Start

The perplexing maze of initials in the New Deal gradually is being unraveled by the Joneses in their family discussions, of which this is the ninth in a series.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

CHAPTER NINE

"Remember Slim Sanford, that fellow I went to grade school with, and who kind of went on the bum? I had a letter from him today."

There was a lifting of eyebrows about the Jones dinner table. They all knew Slim, son of a neighboring family. He'd been away from home for years now, "on the road," or "on the bum," as most of the neighbors put it. Never had been able to get a job—just drifted. Jails, and hobo camps, and the "blind baggage."

"Why, where is he, John?" Ma Jones asked.

"He's in a government Transient Camp out in California," replied John. "And listen to some of his letters!"

"... I was on the bum for sure, Johnnie. Just from one town to another, a jail one night, a diphouse the next. Begging on the streets. Was I sick of it!"

"But when I heard about this camp, I thought I'd try anything once. I get food, and a bunk and shelter, and there's a doctor here and dentist—they fixed my teeth last week. I get a dollar a week spending money, and we have baseball and games every day."

Ambition Won Back

"We work at fixing the camp, and, believe me, we've got it in swell shape. Pretty soon they're starting a job in connection with the camp where I can work and lay up enough money for a new suit and fare to get home."

"Then I'm going to have another try at getting a real job, Johnnie, and I want to get a start at a real job of some kind again."

John dropped the letter on the table. "I just happened to notice the figures on that in the paper the other day," he went on. "There are 400 shelters and 350 permanent camps which the government has set up for fellows on the bum. And there are 200,000 men in 15,000 families, and even 300 single girls, staying at those camps and trying to get a new start."

Gives Youths a Chance

"Seems like a lot of consideration for tramps," grunted Pa Jones. "When I was young we had to get a job and stick to it. Nobody'd feed us if we didn't better. You know you can't do that today. I know a dozen young fellows who went to school with me who never had a job since they left school."

"I happened to be lucky because you can use me at the store, but lots of fellows haven't any such luck. Why, there were supposed to be 2,000,000 fellows absolutely on the bum back in 1932—you know how we used to see them coming up from the railroad yards every morning."

"And it's those young fellows who are getting a break through the CCC camps, too. Bill Barnett's written me about that—he's in a camp up in Michigan, you know."

They Earn Their Way

"They stopped a forest fire last month that would have caused damage of hundreds of thousands of dollars if they hadn't been there. Bill's tickled to death with the job, says he's gained 11 pounds, and is rarin' to go when he's discharged next spring."

"The boss down at the planing mill thinks he'll be able to put Bill on then."

One of the good things about the Civilian Conservation Corps camps has been the large number who have "graduated" into regular jobs in industry. There have been 53,000 of them since April. There are now about 360,000 men in 16,000 CCC camps, and 215,000 families are receiving remittances from their pay.

Pa Jones rubbed his chin reflectively. "Well, it seems all right," he mused. "But it seems to me that all those men are taking jobs away from somebody else, aren't they?"

"That's the swell part of it, dad," rejoined John. "They aren't. Practically all that work of forest protection, planting trees, building trails, clearing brush, and building dams to stop erosion just wasn't being done at all. Given Education, Too."

"It was nobody's business, and it just didn't get done. Now the government makes it its business, and it's getting done."

"Well, I admit it was a lifesaver to the Barnett," granted Pa Jones. "Joe Barnett told me

"Why, there were supposed to be 2,000,000 fellows on the bum in 1932... and it's those young men who are getting a break through the CCC camps today."

the other night that they get $28 every month out of Bill's CCC pay, and it's just about pulled them through."

"What's more," John, Jr., went on, "Bill tells me they're building a schoolhouse in his camp right now. They've had life-saving, swimming, and first-aid instruction all summer, and classes in English, carpentry, shorthand, machinery, and aviation."

"It's a swell chance for some of the fellows who had to quit school."

May Be Permanent

Government plans for the CCC go far beyond mere clearing of brush and forest conservation work. As the act creating it expires next March 31, official Washington is agreed that it will be extended and perhaps made permanent.

It had cost about $470,000,000 up to Nov. 1. And the educational end will be much extended. Some 150,000 men took courses of some kind this last summer, and many hundreds of illiterates were taught to read and write.

Some Washington officials see the CCC as the future school for those young men who cannot afford the regular high schools—a new kind of training combining some "book learning" with practical training and outdoor work. This will also mean jobs for teachers, many of whom are unemployed.

Sounds Good to Dad

"Well, I never did have much objection to the CCC," said Pa. "It seems like a pretty good idea."

"Sure, dad," returned John, Jr. "But don't forget: it hasn't been done if people took the same attitude you spoke about the other day, that it was none of the government's business whether these fellows had anything to do or not."

"Oh, I hate to see them all in khaki—it seems so much like they were all in the army," Mrs. Jones put in.

"But it isn't really, Ma," John, Jr., reassured her. "First place, you don't have to go, and second place, you don't have to stay. The army had to start it and furnish the leaders, because that's the only place the government could get 'em quick."

Not a Military Camp

"But there's no guns and no more drills and discipline than you have to have to keep order. I showed you that snapshot Bill sent last week—didn't he look great? He's having a swell time!"

First evidence of the new responsibility of government for every citizen and its new closeness to all our lives, the CCC is an effort to bridge the gap between school days and a regular job, a gap that is widening in every country in the world. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEXT: The AAA—Pa Jones' farmer cousin, Henry Robinson, comes to town for Sunday dinner and takes some good-natured kidding about the farm program—but he tells Pa Jones a few things, too.

HOLD CONFAB ON WATER USE; NO DECISION

An extended confab late yesterday between supervisors, Farm Bureau representatives, Orange County Water District trustees and others interested in a suggested agreement with gun clubs upon restricted use of water by the clubs, discussed a proposal from the gun clubs but broke up without visible progress toward a decision.

The chamber of the supervisors was crowded by the representatives of water users when a proposal from Joseph E. Pyle, of Pasadena, attorney for the Westminster Gun club, that the gun clubs be restricted to use of 8 acre inches of water per season over the 1500 acres which gun clubs control in this county, was read by Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Pyle proposed that the gun clubs who wished to enter the arrangement should be formed into a leasing corporation controlling their aggregate holdings, and that such a corporation be made a party to the injunction which the county now has pending in superior court against the Westminster Gun club, to prevent pumping of water for duck ponds.

Outlines Plan

The court's decree in this case, it was suggested, could specify the amount of water these gun clubs would be allowed to use, and would be binding upon all clubs involved. The plan, Pyle's letter stated, would not affect the force of the county water ordinance or surrender the rights of various interests. Waste of water still could be prosecuted wherever it occurred.

The plan, he further pointed out, would obviate the necessity of separate prosecutions or separate civil actions to determine the rights of each property in any water issue raised. This method would determine the rights of all clubs involved, in the one case.

Menton said he had not had time to study the proposal, but its statement of the legal principles was correct. An addition to the clause of the water ordinance which defines beneficial use of water, proposed by Pyle, would not affect the worth of the ordinance, Menton said. It was designed to carry out whatever decree the court might make in the pending case, under the plan proposed.

W. C. Mauerhan, of Katella, Farm Bureau member, trustee of the water district and long-time foe of the gun clubs, expressed distrust of any change in the present water ordinance.

Later, when Chairman Willard Smith, of the supervisors, commented that he had supposed Mauerhan was talking as a representative of the Farm Bureau, Mauerhan said that he was not; that he opposed the report of the Farm Bureau water committee, which favored a compromise with the gun clubs in the interest of water conservation.

Ralph McFadden, speaking for the Farm Bureau, said that the Farm Bureau is "not interested in stopping the activity of anyone, but only is interested in water conservation." Pyle's suggested compromise appealed to him, he said, but a Farm Bureau conference earlier in the day had decided that the proposal needed further study before action is taken.

Secretary Roland Flaherty, of the Farm Bureau, expressed the view that unless all the gun clubs were in the corporation bound by a court decree, there would be little use trying to deal with them.

Chairman Willard Smith, presiding over the conference, sought information on the question whether the proposed eight inches per acre would really mean conservation of water. Further study of this matter by the committee of supervisors, Farm Bureau and water district, might be advisable, he suggested.

Vernon Hell, Bolsa rancher, said that there would be no conservation in it, if the gun clubs were allowed eight inches per acre over their 1500 acres.

They are only using about 500 acres for duck ponds now, he said; that would mean about 24 inches of water on the 1500 acres.

By their own estimate, the clubs now are using about 27 inches of water on this acreage, he said.

Gives Comparison

As to the gun club claim that if they were forced to farm their lands, instead of using the water for duck ponds, they would use much more than now, Hell declared this was not the case. He farms a piece of land of similar size and character to the 105 acres used by the nearby Westminster Gun club for duck ponds, he said. His irrigation used 6490 kilowatt hours of electric power, to 47,560 kilowatt hours used by the gun clubs for duck ponds, he showed.

He pointed out, the gun club would cut their use of water to about one-seventh of the present amount, if they changed to farming. It was explained that his own use of water, as shown by power used for pumping, amounted to about six inches per acre.

Mauerhan interjected the vigorous comment that the gun clubs were "throwing up a smoke screen" with their claim of water for 1500 acres, but Chairman Smith cut in with:

"We are interested in getting the facts. Anyone can cuss the gun clubs."

Attorney A. W. Rutan, of the water district, said he had not studied the matter, but from the practical standpoint, he believed the court, in specifying an allowance of water to any lands, might use the highest amount that could be beneficially used, such as growing alfalfa.

Danceland to Hold Turkey Day Event

Celebrating the Thanksgiving season, the regular Wednesday evening dance will be held tonight and a special Turkey Day dance will be held tomorrow night at Santa Ana Danceland at Fourth and Van Ness streets.

Tonight's dance will open a series of Treasure Nights on Wednesdays, when $10 will be given away weekly. Music will be furnished by Frank Newmann's orchestra.

STATEMENT ON READ ADDRESS MADE BY C. C.

As a result of statements made at a meeting arranged by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to which invitations were issued by the local organization to other chamber officials and civic leaders of the county here, Leonard E. Read, western manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in which Read among other things characterized PWA activities as Communist and opposed old age pensions and the 30-hour week for labor, the following formal statement was issued today by Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana chamber:

"Recently an address was made in Santa Ana by Mr. Leonard E. Read, western manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce."

"The directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce wish it understood that Mr. Read had no authority to represent the attitude or views of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. In fact, the individual views of the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce may, and in many instances do, differ widely from the views expressed by Mr. Read."

"The matters discussed by Mr. Read are matters that have never come before the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. The directors further wish it to be known that the meeting was called at the request of Mr. Read, and that everything said by Mr. Read at the meeting was said on behalf of the United States Chamber of Commerce, or himself."

CRIMINAL COURT CASES POSTPONED

Superior Judge James L. Allen will spend Thanksgiving and the ensuing week-end at his former home in Imperial Valley. His regular hearing of the Friday morning criminal calendar was cancelled this week, cases being set for the following Friday. However, cases previously set for hearing this Friday, will be handled by Superior Judges H. H. Ames and G. K. Scovel. Objection has been voiced by members of the bar at causing delay to their clients by postponing criminal court session for one week.

UNWRITTEN LAW IS STEINMETZ DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(UP)—The "unwritten law" will be the defense offered by Joseph L. Steinmetz, who killed his pretty young bride and a Catholic priest, Monday when he found them in a hotel room together, it was indicated today.

The 22-year-old divinity student was held without bail on a murder charge after his arraignment yesterday. His attorney, Meyer Machlis, planned to review the case today. He said he had not yet heard Steinmetz's full story of the tragedy.

Meanwhile few new details of events leading up to the double slaying were revealed.

DELAY SENTENCE OF EXPECTANT MOTHER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—(UP)—A plea that she did not want her child to be born inside prison walls today delayed sentence of Mrs. Lillian Butterfield, 26, who pleaded guilty to a charge of using the mails in an attempt to defraud correspondents of matrimonial bureaus in Portland and Minneapolis.

Dinner, Lecture For Co-Operative

FULLERTON, Nov. 28.—Bruce Wheeler, of Los Angeles, will lecture on economics, will speak to members of the Fullerton United Co-operative association at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the headquarters at 233 West Santa Fe avenue. The members will hold a dinner preceding the talk at the same place.

action was reached at the conference, which broke up rather suddenly, shortly after Rutan had suggested, without result, that a general committee might be appointed to work out a counter proposal, and Mauerhan declared himself in favor of keeping the water ordinance as it is and going ahead under it.

DIVIDEND FROM DEFUNCT BANK TO BE DELAYED

ANAHEIM, Nov. 28.—Claims of stockholders in the Anaheim First National Bank may delay payment of the first dividend from the defunct institution until after Christmas, according to Receiver J. V. Hogan and his attorney Benjamin Chipkin. The claims are from stockholders who made voluntary contributions in an effort to stabilize the impaired capital of the bank before it was closed.

Hogan who has been making every effort to have a sizeable dividend for depositors before Christmas has said that although he believes these claims have no legal weight they must be considered and either definitely rejected or approved by the federal office before the recommendation for dividends can be taken up.

In an effort to get the matter cleared up Hogan and his attorney have wired and sent airmail communications to Washington bearing their opinions on the matter. He indicated that his sympathy is with the depositors and that he will make every effort to gather legal data in support of his case against the stockholders' claims in an effort to have them tabled in preference to the payment of dividends.

MEN INVOLVED IN FIGHT FACE COURT

Secundo Diaz, 40, 909 Logan street and Albert Garcia, 18, 1020 1/2 Custer street, principals in a fight Saturday night in front of a Logan street pool hall, were arraigned in the Santa Ana justice court today on charge of disturbing the peace.

Diaz was held to answer in the justice court yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, after he said that he stabbed Garcia with a small knife. His plea of self defense and the testimony of other witnesses, however, led police and the district attorney's office to feel that both men were sufficiently involved to warrant the filing of disturbing the peace charges, which were preferred yesterday.

Garcia pleaded guilty today and asked for probation, with his hearing being set for December 5. Diaz pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial, which was also set for December 5. Both men were released without bail by Judge Kenneth Morrison.

It is expected that no action will be taken in superior court against Diaz until the end of his trial on the misdemeanor charges. If he is convicted in the justice court, it was predicted that the felony charge would be dismissed.

Garcia was confined in the Orange County hospital after the fight and was transferred to the county jail last night.

COMPROMISE OVER BONUS SUGGESTED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee, just returned from conferences with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, said today he believed a satisfactory compromise could be reached on the bonus issue through payments of the bonuses to ex-service men in actual need.

In an hour's general press conference, Harrison said:

1. He believed a bonus compromise could be reached and that congress would uphold the president in any program he decided upon.

2. That liquor import duties should be reduced.

3. That he believed there would be no general increase in taxation.

4. That he thought old age pension legislation should be enacted immediately.

TENSION IN BALKAN STATES TIGHTENED

LONDON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—Because of the Balkan tension, the Italian-Jugoslavian friction and the Japanese attitude in the naval negotiations, Lloyd's Insurance Underwriters have tightened their handling of war risk insurance. It was learned today.

They will not guarantee their rates will remain at a given level for more than 12 hours.

Today a premium of 5 per cent was quoted against the risk of war within three months involving any two of the following nations: France, Russia, Poland, Germany, Italy, Yugoslavia and Japan. The premium was 8 per cent for six months and 10 per cent for one year.

None of the recognized underwriters will insure against any risk of war, burglary or fire for more than one year.

Trash Collection To Be Cancelled Thanksgiving Day

No trash collections will be made in the southwest district of the city tomorrow because of the Thanksgiving holiday, it was announced today by the city street department.

The affected area is south of Camille street, west of Main street, south of McFadden street and west of the Pacific Electric tracks. The next trash collection will be made on Thursday, Dec. 6.

There will be no trash collection in the business district tomorrow night.

All garbage collections will be made as usual.

UTOPIAN WORK TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

Utopians from all portions of Orange County forming the degree team of the society will portray the first and second cycles Friday evening November 30 at Knights of Pythias hall, Center street, Anaheim, it was announced today.

The two cycles are to be conferred on applicants who may have been given preliminary work in induction meetings at any time, and to those who have signed applications, according to Sydney White, educational supervisor for Santa Ana. Al O'Connor is in general charge of cycles. Tryouts for voice cast have been held during the past week with Dr. F. H. Johnson in charge.

Arrangements have been made to have all necessary committees present so that persons who have attended induction meetings and those who have only signed applications may be prepared for the cycles, according to Joe Warren of Fullerton, in charge of this part of the work. The actual portraying of cycles is set for 8 o'clock.

Third, fourth and fifth cycles will be given Friday December 7, at the same hall, according to plans made by the committee of educational supervisors from Orange county communities. Interested persons are being instructed by the committee to secure detailed information from their supervisors, or from the committee at the hall on Friday evening, both as regards the first and second cycles and for subsequent ritual work.

CINDERELLA BALL SET FOR TONIGHT

American Legion auxiliary members have finished all preparations and are expecting a large attendance tonight at the Cinderella Ball to be staged in Veterans hall on Birch street, starting at 9 o'clock.

One of the highlights of the evening will be to see which lady can wear an extremely small slipper which has been on display at the hall. Music will be furnished by Billy Nickles orchestra and decorations have been arranged by Mrs. William Penn and Mrs. Raymond March. Mrs. Allen Dodder is general chairman of the dance. Varied gifts will be given dancers by Schilling's Shoe store, St. Anne's jewelry store, Asher Jewelry store, Stein's Stationery store, Decker's Candyland and the E. T. O. Auto Laundry.

SERA PROJECT APPROVED BY CITY COUNCIL

ANAHEIM, Nov. 28.—In a brief meeting that lasted but 30 minutes, the city council last night approved an SERA project for tree surgery and doctoring all parkway trees in the city and extended the membership of the Citizens' Committee of Recreational Activities to include M. A. Gauer and J. A. Claves.

Under the resolution approving the tree surgery project the city agreed to bear all expense of supervision of the project and to provide all material and equipment.

In increasing the membership of the Citizens' Committee on Recreational Activities it was pointed out that the present committee named last August has no jurisdiction except at the park. The added members were appointed to cover sponsorship of supervised play and protection of children at various recreational centers, provide instruction for various adult groups, securing and directing SERA personnel, co-ordinating work at the various centers and cooperate with city and school authorities in securing the services and equipment of regular employees.

A letter from the committee in charge of the Armistice Day celebration at Huntington Beach, signed by Dr. P. E. Sheehan, general chairman, thanking the city council for cooperation was read.

MOUNTAIN REGION COVERED WITH SNOW

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 28.—(UP)—A storm which moved into Colorado from the west today was blanketing the entire Rocky Mountain region with snow.

The storm, accompanied in most areas by fairly moderate temperatures—15 to 20 degrees above zero—brought joy to farmers of the territory, and to water boards of most towns and cities.

It raised precipitation for the month of November above normal for the first time in any month since last February.

Six inches of snow fell in Salt Lake City as the storm moved eastward.

RECENT FILMS REVIEWED BY P.-T. A. GROUP

Recommendations regarding recently released motion pictures previewed by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers made public today through Mrs. M. W. Hollingsworth, chairman of the motion picture committee of the Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers.

Comment on the pictures previewed follows: "Fugitive Lady," Columbia production with Neil Hamilton, Florence Rice and Donald Cook. "A fairly exciting but threadbare romance. Adults, fair; 14-18, fair; 8-14, no."

"Jealousy," Columbia production with Nancy Carroll, George Murphy, Donald Cook and Inez Courtney. "An excellent cast give a singularly life-like and sincere interpretation to this vivid and depressing melodrama. Adults, food for thought; 8-18, no."

"Linehouse Blues," Paramount production with George Raft, Anna May Wong, Jean Parker and Kent Taylor. "A sinister, sordid tale of smuggling and murder in London's Chinatown. An interesting though not an outstanding picture. Adults, good; 8-18, no."

"Menace," Paramount production with Paul Cavanaugh, Gertrude Michael, Henrietta Crosman and Kent Taylor. "Mystery with a capital 'M'. A well chosen cast and a clever director keep the audience alert from start to finish. Adults, yes, indeed, if you are a mystery fan; 14-18, too exciting; 8-14, no."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON

CRACK DOWN

The public crack which Mr. Roosevelt delivered across the knuckles of Messrs. Ickes and Moffett was meant to be a lesson to a lot of other sub-bosses in the New Deal.

If you had listened in on the long distance telephone from Warm Springs you would have learned that Mr. Roosevelt was not particularly excited about the Ickes-Moffett scrap. What perturbed him was the rumor he has been hearing from Washington about a rather general similar situation which has arisen inside the New Deal.

GRAB-BAGGING

The results, this trip, were worse than usual, because the bureau bosses had wind of reorganization plans. Each has the idea that the proper reorganization would be an enlargement of his particular bureau. That is natural. It has not been disclosed, but at the same time as the Ickes-Moffett spat, Mr. Ickes was caught with his hand on Mr. Wallace's forestry bureau. For some time Mr. Ickes has looked with longing eyes on the forestry service. Agricultural Secretary Wallace was asked about the matter recently, and with significant evasion replied: "Mr. Ickes and I are the best of friends."

Also, the reliever, Mr. Hopkins, had his hand in the same housing grab-bag with Messrs. Moffett and Ickes, but he got it out before they got caught.

HAPPY FAMILY
Since the teacher corrected the two toughest boys, all the rest have been acting as cherubs. They have all taken their tune from Mr. Wallace. None feels hurt.

They deny ardently that they had their hands in the jam pot anyway.

Just the same it would be wise for the average news reader, the business man and the speculator to keep one eye closed in mental reservation while reading much of the Washington material these days.

The real decisions will come when the boss returns.

WHITE MEAT
As interesting a scrap as any is the one between the federal trade commission and the commerce department over the white meat on the old Blue Eagle. That is an old scrap which has lately been renewed.

A certain eminent carver for the administration would cut the bird up into two parts. One would be administrative and the other judicial (something like the old Johnson idea). The administrative end would be given to the commerce department. Any disputes would be tried before the judicial body, called the national code commission. Existing NRA boards would be abolished or at least reorganized into the new setup.

It sounds like a good idea and there are indications that the general theory is acceptable to Mr. Richberg as well as to commerce department officials. No decision has been made.

BALLOON
Authoritative New Deal balloons floated in the last six weeks by the boss himself, or under his confidential supervision, have met mixed winds.

The inside on that situation now might be thumbnailed fairly as follows:
Labor-Roper's speech calling for union guarantees of the right to work. Swatted by labor. Wide spread favorable letter reaction from business. Something on it may be worked out. No decision.
Public works-The 12 billion dollar PWA program was shot down before it got off the ground and is now out on the junkpile of broken dreams. A much more conservative plan is being formulated.

Utilities-The Walsh report and Mr. Roosevelt's Tupelo speech frightened the power companies out of their wits. Utilities stocks went down foolishly, because the St. Lawrence project cannot possibly be completed for 10 years, if then. Utilities magnates now secretly organizing their anti-aircraft guns (publicity and others). The administration will sail to victory but the landing is a long way off.

NRA-Richberg's speeches advocating discontinuance of price fixing, as well as production control, brought encouraging reaction. Matter probably will be worked out on general lines outlined above.

AAA-Chester Davis' speeches advocating eventual discontinuance of scarcity idea were moved under by farm demands for continuance of existing government subsidies for curtailment. The farmers have won for the present.

NOTES
Most returning congressmen favor a congressional investigation of relief and public works administrations, not as a graft hunt, but as a sincere effort to develop the best policy for those two agencies. An investigation is inevitable. The administration may take hold of it, so the opposition cannot conduct it.

The only New Deal agency making any money is the commerce department cafeteria. About once a month it deducts a dime from all luncheon checks in order to keep from piling up a surplus.

If the building trades are made the guinea pig for the annual wage experiment instead of the motor industry. Conservatives feel—if it must be tried—the ideal spot is an industry which will have powerful government assistance in smoothing out the rough spots of variable seasonal demand. They also hope and believe that the fallacies in the theory will soon become apparent once it's put into practice—thus saving other businesses from the same ordeal. Industrial leaders are also intrigued by reports that labor will accept a smaller hourly wage in return for a guaranteed annual income. They figure any break in the high wage dike—no matter how caused—will give them the lower awaited opening to drive for lower labor costs. The smart boys are already trying to dope out ways to cut wage-cut cake without having to swallow the annual wage pill at the same time.

TIME
Rumors that Securities and Exchange Commissioners Kennedy, Landis and Matthews have "gone over to Wall Street" because they approve the Northern States Power bond issue while Pecora and Healy held out for amendments to the company's registration statement are the bunk.

The time element was the determining factor in the decision. The delay in refunding operations would have caused a default. Insiders learn the majority of the commission felt it would be unfair to put the company in the hole because of a comparatively trivial question of accounting. Financially, the commission's refusal to make a life-and-death issue of a technicality as evidence of its sincere intent to help things along. Corporate financing is just beginning to show signs of life and an adverse decision in the Northern States case would have squelched them completely.

SUSPICIOUS
Apparently Richard Whitney overheard the mark when he tried to contribute to the new harmony by lavishing praise on exchange regulation. Brokers with branch offices through the country report a public reaction of suspicion to all this love-and-kisses stuff and predict that the SEC will hear about it from congress.

A New Yorker remarks that the reaction is natural. "Wouldn't you think it a trifle odd if a motorist who had been pinched for speeding started praising motorcycle cops?"

SWAP
The steel labor tangle is getting as involved as the plot of a detective thriller. Two things have happened which would have seemed impossible a few months ago. U. S. Steel unbent so far as to recognize the federation of labor unions and the government privately but definitely went to bat with labor in support of the steel-makers' proposition. Yet these miracles—instead of saving the situation as intended—have actually made it worse and brought a widespread and dangerous strike measurably closer. Here's the how and why.

This latest chapter began with an effort by Myron Taylor—chairman of U. S. Steel—to contribute to the president's labor truce. Against the opposition of stiff-necked associates he committed the industry's largest corporation to deal with the dreaded "outside" unions under certain reservations. Four-fifths of the industry's productive capacity would have followed this leadership if its offer had been accepted.

Hitherto the steel magnates have unanimously viewed the Amalgamated with the same affection that a chicken fancier feels for a mauling hawk. Therefore the two motives behind U. S. Steel's conciliatory gesture were caught instantly. One was a desire to prove to FDR that the company is genuinely anxious to aid recovery by promoting industrial peace. The other was a subtle attempt to strengthen company unions against Amalgamated inroads. If the federation had accepted the proffer—with its stipulation of no formal contract—it would have paved the way for proportional representation as practiced in the motor industry. In effect the corporation was trying to swap partial recognition of Amalgamated for the latter's implied acquiescence in the right of company unions to exist on a permanent basis.

SALVATION
Federation officials refused to rise to the bait because they spotted the concealed hook. The government—as represented by the steel labor relations board—intervened to urge acceptance. Its main object all along has been to achieve a peaceful solution of a thorny problem and naturally it was supported a move which seemed to offer the only hope of reaching the elusive goal. But labor board pressure only stiffened labor resistance to U. S. Steel's overtures. New York understands that labor leaders now feel the government has taken sides with the enemy. This has strengthened their conviction that their salvation depends solely on themselves and whets the demand for direct action.

IMPATIENT
What next? No strike immediately—but preparations on both sides will be intensified. The steel labor board will try to assert its authority by staging an impartial election for collective bargaining representatives in the Duquesne plant of Carnegie Steel. But you can't hold such an election without a list of qualified voters. The only source for an acceptable list is the company's payroll record—which the company will not hand over. If the board tries to subpoena it the company will resist in the courts on the ground that the board has no power to do so under the law.

The informed figure it will take close to a year before legal machinery can grind out a final decision. That means no election in the interim—which is all to the good from the industry's viewpoint. By then the original NRA charter will have expired and congress will presumably have enacted new laws which may change the picture completely. Meanwhile the legal suspense is more than likely to be broken by labor elements impatient for action.

METHODS OF CONTROLLING SCALE TOLD

While red scale on lemons has to a considerable extent become resistant to fumigation and cannot be controlled by spraying, a combination of spraying and fumigation usually will give good results. This conclusion has been reached by H. J. Quayle, professor of entomology and Walter Ebeling, junior entomologist at the Citrus Experiment Station, Riverside, according to an announcement made today by the local farm advisor's office.

Red scale shows varied resistance in different localities, as do black and citrus scale. Oil spray was tried when fumigation failed to give results as at first, but it was not entirely effective. A combination of the two, however, gives almost perfect control. The fumigation kills best on old wood and leaves the spray does better on the fruit.

The spray can be combined with the one for red spider, which reduces the cost of the operation, say the investigators, so that the spray-fumigation treatment is not chargeable to red scale alone.

While the percentage of kill with the combined treatment ranges from 93 to 100 per cent, and may be misleading to growers, Professor Quayle and Ebeling contend that severe infestations can be reduced by repeated treatments. The experiments and results are discussed in Bulletin 583, just off the University Press, titled, "Spray-Fumigation Treatment for Red Scale on Lemons." It may be obtained free from the farm advisor's office.

FAMILY DINNER PARTIES TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Members of the immediate family will be entertained at a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day at the home of Mrs. Margaret Miller on 210 East Erna avenue. The long dining table was covered with an old fashioned red table cloth and was centered with a coal oil lamp. Candles in old fashioned holders furnished additional light for the dinner.

Card games were played following the dinner and prizes were in keeping with the old fashioned theme. Mrs. F. L. Benson and Mrs. H. J. Hinchey and A. P. Schroeder received a prize.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Eastman, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cory of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hinchey and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Schroeder of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Benson, of Anaheim; Mrs. Anna C. Launer and Jimmie Launer, of La Habra.

Tustin Pension Club In Program

TUSTIN, Nov. 28.—With approximately 45 members present, the Tustin Townsend Old Age Pension club held its regular weekly meeting in the social hall of the Advent Christian church Monday night.

A pot-luck dinner was shared at 6:30 o'clock at two long tables which were decorated in yellow and white colors. Mrs. George F. Rowen, Mrs. B. F. Beswick and Mrs. Ruth C. Walker were in charge of the dinner.

Following the business session at which the president, Mrs. Werta Wilson and B. F. Beswick are the committee in charge of next Monday night's program, William Kellams is vice president and Margaret Byrd, secretary-treasurer of the club which meets every Monday night. A pot-luck dinner is held at 6:30 o'clock the second Monday evening each month preceding the regular business session and program. All those interested are invited to attend.

Relatives Plan Holiday Dinner

TUSTIN, Nov. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hatfield will preside at a turkey dinner Thursday when they entertain a group of relatives at their pretty home, 730 D street. The dinner will be served at 1 o'clock at a large table attractive with Thanksgiving day appointments.

Those invited to share the celebration with the hosts are Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Wilson and sons, James and Stanley of Panorama Heights; Mrs. Ella Parker, Mrs. Alice Harris, Mrs. Coralyne Thompson, Mrs. Arthur Lyon, Mrs. Mary Zainer, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Soest and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cherry, of Los Angeles.

DINNER ENJOYED
TUSTIN, Nov. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. J. LeRoy Wilson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleary and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Leinberger and children, Billy and Mary Louise, at a turkey dinner at their home, 111 North B street Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hutchins, of Orange, will enjoy a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Wilson was awarded two turkeys at a recent Tustin Legion shoot at the Eddie Martin airport.

CHURCHES PLAN HAROLD PETERS SERVICES FOR TAKES ORANGE THANKSGIVING GIRL AS BRIDE

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—Thanksgiving services have been arranged by churches of Orange for tomorrow, with a union service set for 10 a. m. at the First Methodist church. The Rev. Franklin Minck, pastor of the Christian church, will deliver the sermon. The Rev. H. F. Sheerer, president of the Ministerial union, will preside. Music will be furnished by the Methodist choir, directed by Mrs. George Swift Harper.

Services are to be held at Immanuel Lutheran church at 10:30 a. m. in charge of the pastor the Rev. A. G. Webber, and at St. John's Lutheran church at 9:30 a. m. and at 11 a. m. The 9:30 o'clock service will be in German and the 11 o'clock service in English.

At the Immanuel Lutheran church the pastor will speak from the topic "Our Proper Thanksgiving." Special music will be given by the children of the Immanuel day school.

OLD TIME PARTY HELD IN LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Nov. 27.—An old time dinner party was given recently at the R. E. Launer home at 210 East Erna avenue. The long dining table was covered with an old fashioned red table cloth and was centered with a coal oil lamp. Candles in old fashioned holders furnished additional light for the dinner.

Card games were played following the dinner and prizes were in keeping with the old fashioned theme. Mrs. F. L. Benson and Mrs. H. J. Hinchey and A. P. Schroeder received a prize.

Illustrated Talk On Palestine Set For Sunday Night

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—Prof. Gordon C. Oxtoby, of San Francisco, will give an illustrated address on Palestine Sunday evening at the first Presbyterian church. Professor and Mrs. Oxtoby spent over a year at the University at Jerusalem. The speaker is said to be an authority not only on present-day Palestine but also in the field of archeology of Bible lands.

At the present time Professor Oxtoby is instructor in the Old Testament interpretation of literature at the San Francisco Theological seminary.

COUPLE'S 44TH WEDDING EVENT IS CELEBRATED

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, of South Cypress street, observed their 44th anniversary recently, a large number of friends calling to extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, of Corona, son and daughter-in-law of the couple, were Sunday guests. Sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson sent them a large bouquet of American Beauty roses, the flowers carried by the mother when she was a bride in Falkner, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have four children, all living in California. Mrs. Mabel Black, of Alturas; Arthur Wilson, of Ollum; Albert Wilson, of Escondido, and Clarence Wilson, of Corona. They have lived here since 1910.

Beautiful flowers were sent by the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church and by circle No. 3, same church. Mrs. Wilson is a member of both groups. A number of lovely potted plants also were received.

Guests yesterday were Harry Wilson, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Fred Anderson, also of New York, who was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Carl Hirsch, of Southgate, with whom he is spending the winter. The two men, Mr. Wilson, 75, and Anderson, 81, drove across the continent recently to spend the winter in Orange and Southgate.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were born in Sweden and the latter is one of the few women in the state to spin yarn from wool for the use of her own family. Many persons have visited her to see the spinning wheel in operation.

Bridge Enjoyed By Class Members

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—Sharing an enjoyable evening the members of the Teammates class of the Presbyterian church met at the Villa Park road home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Komper Anderson Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Nelson assisting as hosts. Auction bridge was played, with first prize going to James Goode and second to Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Corcoran.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to Dr. Clarence Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Balz, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Corcoran, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Glasbrenner, James Goode, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hale, Dr. R. B. McAulay, Mr. and Mrs. Justin McGill, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parks, Miss Flo Scarritt, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Showalter, Mrs. Frank Showalter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tulene, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Willis and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wood.

CHOIR PLANS PARTY
BREA, Nov. 28.—Members of the girls' junior choir of the Congregational church are to have a supper party following choir practice at 4 o'clock on December 4. All present members of the choir and all who have been members are asked to enjoy the party.

Details are being arranged by Mrs. Doane Merrill, director of the choir, Mrs. A. J. Barnes, superintendent of the Sunday church school, mothers of the girls and teachers in whose classes they belong.

CONDUCT FINAL SERVICES FOR WILLIAM KNUTH

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—Last rites for William A. Knuth, 87, who passed away at his home in Villa Park early Friday afternoon were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at the Galloway funeral chapel and at 3 o'clock from St. John's Lutheran church, with the Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahl, in charge of the services.

"Lead, Kindly Light" was sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. William Batterman, Miss Clara Burke, Mrs. R. L. Precht and Mrs. Paul Kogler. They were accompanied at the organ by William Batterman, who also played before and after the services.

A native of Germany, Mr. Knuth had been a resident of Villa Park since 1887. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Marie Knuth; two sons, William A. and Charles A. Knuth, both of Villa Park; and three daughters, Mrs. C. O. Field, Mrs. A. W. Leichfus, both of Villa Park, and Mrs. Antonia Berger, of Tustin.

Palbearers were Orlo Barger, Dr. Wilfred Leichfus, Harvey Leichfus, Lawrence Leichfus, James Workman and Alfred Dierker. Interment was made in St. John's cemetery.

PLAY GIVEN FOR FRIENDSHIP CHAIN

ORANGE, Nov. 28.—A one-act play, "The Last Day of School," was the main feature of the November meeting of the Friendship chain of the First Presbyterian church held in the church basement Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Vern O. Estes serving as chairman for the evening.

Decorations were representative of an old fashioned school house and were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Westcott. Following the play, a number of informal games were played under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. James Goode.

At the close of the evening, school lunches were served in paper bags by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Doncaster. Members taking part in the play were Mr. and Mrs. Vern O. Estes, Mr. and Mrs. James Goode, Enley Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood, Theron Willis, Dr. Clarence Baker, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Doncaster, Mrs. Henry Campbell, the Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Pearson, Alfred Higgins, Mrs. Charlotte Wallace, Mrs. Dora Westfall and Mrs. Edwin Westcott.

Beekeepers Of State To Meet Here Next Tuesday

LUSH GIVES PROGRAM FOR ANNUAL MEET

Honey men from all parts of the state will come to Santa Ana next week when sessions of the 45th annual convention of the California Beekeepers association opens Tuesday morning.

C. E. Lush, Orange, president of the state association, expects an attendance of more than 300 beekeepers who will participate in the timely discussions of apiculture problems now confronting the industry.

Details of the program were announced by Lush today. After registration Tuesday morning, the convention will open at 10 o'clock.

Following reports by state officers, the following program will be observed on Tuesday: "Caucasian vs. Italian Bees," W. L. Bell, Orange; "Beekeeping for the Business Man," Geo. J. Triphon, Sacramento; 1:30 p. m. "Increase Consumption of Honey," Chas. S. Kinsey, Arlington; "Standardization," George J. Brown, Fresno; "Standardization as Provided for in our Agricultural Code," C. Give Holiday Schedule For Schools

Santa Ana schools will close this evening for the Thanksgiving holidays, with no more sessions until next Monday morning, City Superintendent Frank Henderson announced today.

Henderson, at the same time, made known the holiday schedule for the remainder of the term.

The Christmas holidays will begin with the closing of school, Wednesday evening, December 19, and school will reopen Wednesday morning, January 2, he said. The vacation period thus will be two weeks, lacking one day.

The only other scheduled holidays during the term will be the Spring vacation, which occurs the week starting April 15; and Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30, Henderson stated.

"Western Plants Poisonous to Bees," George H. Vansell; 1 p. m. "Heavy Brood Rearing in Summer and Its Relation to Enemies of Bees," Henry Perkins, Los Angeles; "Loss of Bees in July Hot Spell, Cause and Prevention," Mrs. Herbert M. ALAMITOS CHURCH ARRANGES SERVICE

LOS ALAMITOS, Nov. 28.—Dr. F. A. Watson, of Whittier college, will be the guest speaker at a Thanksgiving service to be conducted at the Alamitos Friends church this evening at 7 o'clock. Special music will be furnished by a woman's quartet composed of Mrs. R. L. Ambury, of Whittier; Mrs. F. A. Bumgardner, Mrs. Warren Mendenhall, and Miss Mabel Bumgardner. The song service will be led by Warren Mendenhall. Mite boxes will be opened as a Thanksgiving offering.

CLASS MEETS DEC. 5
GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 28.—Announcement has been made by Miss Carmelita Rous, instructor of girls' athletics at the high school, that the evening gym class for women will meet once a week on Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock and will not meet this week on account of the holiday.

ORDER CHARGE MADE FOR USE OF SCHOOLS

A policy of charging a nominal price for the use of school rooms or auditoriums for public meetings, sufficient to cover the cost of janitor service, lights and heat, was adopted by the Santa Ana board of education at its meeting last night, when a $2 fee was fixed as a minimum for the use of an elementary school room, $6 for Willard auditorium, and $2 for Fremont school auditorium.

That scale covers meetings at which no admission is charged or collection taken. The board already had adopted a scale of $10 for day-time meetings and $20 for night meetings in the Willard auditorium, when admission charges are made or collections taken, at such meetings.

It was pointed out last night that the civic center law provides that fee must be charged for meetings where admission charge is made or collections taken; and that a new amendment to the law provides that where no charge is made or collection taken, the board of education may do as it sees fit with respect to charging for use of the schools.

Action was prompted last night by a report of overtime janitor service costs amounting to $15 for a series of 16 meetings of Townsend pension clubs in the schools during October and November. Board members expressed the view that those using the schools should be willing to pay the extra expense occasioned by their meeting.

A request from representatives of Jehovah's Witnesses for use of Delhi school for a series of Sunday meetings was rejected as a violation of the law against use of the schools for religious purposes. Surrender To Circus
The Santa Ana schools have surrendered to the circus as a superior rival attraction, and henceforth will close at noon on circus days, it was decided last night, after Superintendent Frank Henderson had reported that the last circus cost Santa Ana taxpayers $160 in reduced state aid, because of the abnormal drop in attendance. If school is shortened to a half-day session, with normal attendance, there is no loss in state aid, which is based upon average daily attendance, Henderson pointed out. The decision applies to elementary and junior high schools only.

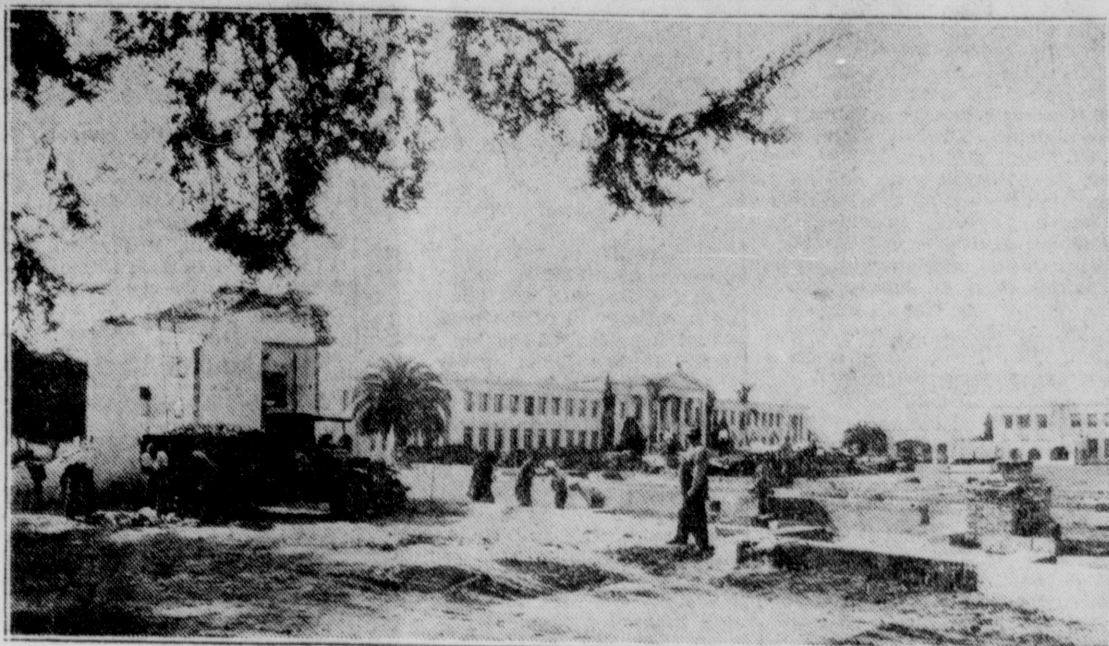

Reports from the various principals show that 42 children who were being supplied with free milk or lunch at school were able to attend the circus, Henderson reported.

Group Advanced
About 30 Mexican pupils at Fremont school, aged 14, 15 and 16, who appeared to be bogged down in the elementary grades, have been summarily "promoted" with a special teacher, Mrs. Nellie Smith, and given a chance at the junior high school scholastic hurdles, Henderson reported. The board approved the transfer of the pupils and Mrs. Smith to the Willard school, where the pupils have gained a new enthusiasm and are happy at their studies, the superintendent said.

To solve the question of teacher tenure involved by Mrs. Smith's change from elementary to secondary field, the board granted her a year's leave of absence from the

CHANGES MADE ON SCHOOL CAMPUS

Here are views of the changes being made on the Santa Ana High school campus. Upper picture shows a general view from the site of the former junior college building, looking toward the west. Lower view is of destruction of the last wall of the former jaycee building; J. A. Crawford, foreman, is directing efforts of the wreckers.

On Proposed Subway

Jack Pegues, representing the Junior College Associated Students, appeared before the board to get its approval of broaching a North Main street pedestrian subway to the city council, as an SERRA project.

The subway, proposed as a matter of convenience to traffic, and safety to junior college students compelled to cross and recross Main street on their way to classes would cost the city between $5000 and $6000, it was estimated, the SERRA to furnish labor the city to provide materials.

The proposal to locate the subway at a point between College Hall and the Christian Science church, would not be opposed by the church, Pegues said he was reliably informed, even though it would infringe somewhat upon church property, because of allowance for widening Main street to 80 feet at some subsequent time.

Weather Station

A location for the proposed weather station of the junior college upon the Y. M. C. A. building roof, to be set up by FERRA students at the junior college and operated by science students, who would make readings twice a day, was recommended by Superintendent Henderson, if the board approved the project. About $150 in material would be required, he said. No action was taken.

A resolution was passed, approving of an SERRA recreation project to be sponsored by the city, to employ SERRA workers to assist in supervising playgrounds. No cost to the schools is involved.

SERRA Projects
Two other projects, costing the schools nothing, were approved. One authorized Business Manager Newcom to sign agreements with SERRA for building 50 cots for the nursery school, where the tots, as part of their schooling, are required to take naps. Another resolution authorized W. W. Wieman, in charge of the SERRA projects for the schools, to apply to SERRA for two library assistants; one to be a full-time assistant for the high school and junior college library, the other to serve part time in the administration building and part at the junior high schools.

A $548 SERRA project—$200 for the schools and $348 for SERRA labor—for demolition of cement pavement on the junior college athletic field (Y. M. C. A. grounds) was discussed by the board. Chairman George Wells suggested that the city is anxious to obtain broken concrete, and might be willing to undertake the work itself in order to get the concrete. The question was left for investigation. A saving of $225 to the schools in construction of furniture, benches, etc., at the new Lathrop Junior High School shop building, was seen in a proposal to obtain the lumber through Contractor Theron Means, who has the building contract, and to hire a cabinet-maker by the day to construct the furniture, instead of letting the job on contract, under Greene bill regulations.

The Greene bill method would supply Greene bill funds for the job, and spare the current budget, but would cost about $825 for the labor, whereas the other way would cost only $400, it is estimated. A cabinet-maker is available at $5 per day, it was said. The board apparently favored the cheaper method, but deferred final decision.

Installation of opaque glass in all windows of the new Lathrop shop, at an added cost of $69.60 above original specifications, was decided upon, as an improvement of lighting conditions for the benefit of the shop students. Samples of opaque glass were shown the board by a representative of the Mississippi Plate Glass company, of Fullerton.

The board authorized Newcom to install a light in the parking place near the high school shops. A surplus light standard at Lathrop school may be transferred to the high school for that purpose, it was suggested.

The next meeting of the board was set for December 11.

HOOVER HEADS S. A. JAYCEE DRUM CORPS OF BONFIRE AND S. A. LEGION RALLY TONIGHT

Election of officers of the Santa Ana American Legion drum corps was announced today following a short practice last night in Veterans' hall.

Newly elected officers include Ralph Hoover, commander; George Kellogg, business manager; George O. Canfield, re-elected secretary-treasurer; John Cleary, re-elected bugle sergeant, and H. R. Carnahan, re-elected drum sergeant.

For two years the drum corps has been the leading corps of the Southland, having successfully defended its title as the second best drum corps in the state of California.

A brief recess of a few weeks has been declared until the formal installation of the new officers on the first meeting night in January.

Following an automobile caravan serpentine, starting at 7:30 o'clock from College hall on North Main street, Santa Ana Junior college students will touch off their huge "Beat Fullerton" bonfire at the circus grounds on South Main street tonight.

Built under the direction of the Junior Lions, campus service club, the pyre is said to be the largest in college history. When a great pile of material, collected at the circus lot, was prematurely burned Sunday night, asserted by Fullerton students, half the college men turned out and built a new bonfire. A score of students, including Robert Tannenbaum, student president, are guarding the pile today.

Included on tonight's rally program are speeches by Coach Bill Cook and members of the football team, a Soph-Fresh "brawl" and yells led by Gus Gilbert and John Henry, yell kings.

After the bonfire, the collegians will stage a theater party at the Broadway theater, with the Don band and football team on the stage between shows.

Exact time in 12 leading cities of the world is shown at a glance on the giant "clock of clocks" in the windows of Wiseman's store at Fifth and Main streets.

The exhibit of General Electric clocks has elicited considerable comment from patrons of the store and pedestrians. On the face of the large board in the shape of the clock are fastened 12 kitchen clocks of all colors, each representing the usual location of one of the hour figures. Large hands show the correct time in Santa Ana as they revolve around the face composed of the small clocks.

Each of the kitchen clocks is set to show the time in a distant city, which is marked with a printed card and the call letters of the leading radio station in that city. A hidden light illuminates the face at night and time all over the world can be computed at any hour of the day or night in Santa Ana.

The cities on the face of the clock, and the corresponding radio stations, are as follows: 1 o'clock, Berlin, DJA; 2 o'clock, Cairo; 3 o'clock, Baghdad; 4 o'clock, Vancouver, VE9CS; 5 o'clock, Denver, KOA; 6 o'clock, Chicago, W9XAA; 7 o'clock, New York, W2XZ; 8 o'clock, Halifax, VE9HX; 9 o'clock, Tokyo; 10 o'clock, Sydney, YK2ME; 11 o'clock, Wellington, New Zealand, GSG; and 12 o'clock, London, GSA.

The clock will remain in the show window for the remainder of the week.

Mrs. Cummins Is Section Hostess

BUENA PARK, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Ruth Thurman won high score when Mrs. Ralph Cummins entertained the Blue Monday card section of the Woman's club at her home Monday afternoon with Mrs. R. D. Temple as co-hostess. Mrs. J. A. Atherton won the traveling prize.

Decorations were rosebuds and table appointments were in harmonizing tones. Glimmerbread with whipped cream was served by the hostesses.

As the regular date for the December meeting would come on the day preceding Christmas, it was decided to cancel the party, the next affair to be held the fourth Monday in January. Mrs. V. K. Wolff will be hostess at her home on Western avenue, with Mrs. D. P. McKinney assisting.

Bride's Attendant Gives Linen Shower

Mrs. Walter Karniss was complimented at a post nuptial shower given recently when Mrs. Dan Jerry entertained in her home, 1334 South Barton street. Mrs. Jerry was matron of honor for Miss Vera Pierson when she became the bride of Mr. Karniss earlier this month.

Tallies, picturing a young couple departing for their honeymoon trip, were distributed for the game of hearts. First and low prizes went to Mrs. Karniss and Mrs. Martha Starkey. Mrs. Alice Simington was rewarded for scoring high in a contest, "The Flower Wedding."

The refreshment interval, when pumpkin pie with whipped cream was served with coffee, proved especially interesting. As guests sought their places at a decorated table, Mrs. Karniss discovered that her chair was piled high with packages. They proved to contain gifts in linen.

All appointments were in gold and white. They included tapers in golden candelabra, yellow and white nut cups and a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. As a final surprise feature, the hostess presented the honoree with an elaborate wedding cake which she had made for the occasion.

Present with Mrs. Karniss and Mrs. Jerry were the bride's two sisters, Mrs. Louise Potter and Mrs. Alice Simington, with Mrs. Elsie Postum, Mrs. Martha Starkey, Mrs. Leona Nielson, Miss Dolly Turnbough and Mrs. Charles F. Wolford.

Guests Spend Evening Playing Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Wetherell were hosts at a bridge party recently in their home, 419 South Birch street.

Their guests included Dr. and Mrs. John Bowyer, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Kistinger, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews were successful players, winning first prize. Mr. and Mrs. Freeman were rewarded for holding second high score.

Mrs. Wetherell served refreshments at the close of the evening.

Family Event Precedes Departure for China

Brought together for a farewell dinner honoring Loren Mead, who sails this week to resume his duties in China with the Standard Oil company, a group of relatives held their Thanksgiving dinner Sunday. They were guests in the home of Mr. Mead's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, 511 South Van Ness avenue.

Mrs. Loren Mead and sons, Donald and Rodney Mead, and the other member of the household, Katherine Fellows, will remain here for the rest of the school year. They are established at East Newport where they have been living for the past six months while Mr. Mead was on a leave of absence.

He leaves today by automobile for San Francisco, accompanied that far by Mrs. Mead and Miss Wilma Plavan. His passage is booked on the President Coolidge, which will sail from the bay city Friday. He will make his home at Nanking, China, for the next year.

Twenty-five relatives took part in the Sunday dinner, served early in the afternoon.

Sycamore Rebekahs

With many visiting officers of this and other districts in attendance, friendship night was observed Saturday at a meeting of Sycamore Rebekah lodge held in I. O. O. F. hall.

O. J. Fries, deputy grand patriarch of district 23, Grand Encampment, was speaker of the evening. "Fraternal Friendliness" was his topic.

Other guests were Mrs. Minerva Batchman, Mrs. Lois Cooper and Mrs. Eunice Manuel, Fullerton; Mrs. Mildred Allen, Mrs. Eva Scott, Miss Hannah Horwitz, Miss Leona Nielson, Anaheim; Mrs. Mabel Noonan, Mrs. Miss Swensen, Mrs. Elizabeth Rodick, Orange; Mrs. Lulu Rouse, Mrs. O. J. Fries, Mrs. Mary Hill, Whittier; Mrs. Dora Morrow, Mrs. Martha Vandewalker, Santa Ana. Gardenias were favors for guests.

Out of state guests introduced were Mrs. Elsie Galvin, Connecticut; Mrs. Lucy Hill, Montana; Miss Della Quinn, Minnesota.

During the business session, a brief memorial service was conducted by Noble Grand Pearl Nicholson, assisted by Mesdames Fannie Taylor, Millie West and Mary Paul. Tribute was paid to the memories of Mrs. Lucy Kerch, Mrs. Marie Crip and Mrs. Nora Spradlin.

The program included piano solo, "Malaguena" (Tecuone) by Miss Eva Ramsey; readings, "Visiting a Soda Fountain," "Sister Caroline Speaking," "A Visit to the Dentist," by Miss Carroll Miller; trio numbers, "If My Songs Had Airy Pinions" (Hahn) and "Cobwebs" (Gerritt Smith), sung by Mrs. Harry Hayes, Miss Lella Rittner and Mrs. Blanche Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wilde and Miss Edith Johnson were in charge of dining room arrangements. Pumpkin pie and coffee were served in a setting of chrysanthemums and other appointments suggestive of the Thanksgiving season.

Brothers' night will be observed at the next meeting, Saturday, December 8. Election of officers will take place at this time.

Junior Ebell Group Devotes Time to Welfare Sewing

Fluffy materials, needles, thread and other sewing equipment occupied attention of Junior Ebell society members who spent Monday afternoon as guests of Miss Nan Mead, 2119 North Main street.

Rounding out welfare layettes started some time ago, the group worked on kimono. Participants speeded up their work with a sewing machine which was kept busy throughout the afternoon.

Miss Mead served tea at the afternoon's close. Her guests included Mesdames Charles Webber, William Jerome, Wendell Finley, Don Park, Virgil Harmon, Robert Heffner, F. F. Mead Jr. and little daughter, Patsy; the Misses Lois Clement, Loretta Spangler and Elizabeth Smith.

The sewing section will resume activities early in January.

Baby is Born on Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kokx, Tustin avenue near Orange, are the parents of a baby daughter, Karen Ann Kokx, born on their fifth wedding anniversary Monday, November 26, at the Sargent Maternity home.

The new arrival is first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz, 411 East Washington avenue, parents of Mrs. Kokx, the former Miss Adele Lutz. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kokx of Villa Park are the parental grandparents of little Karen Ann.

Church Societies

Class Dinner
Captained by Miss Lillie Osborn, members of the winning team in a contest concluded recently by First Presbyterian Philanthropy class were guests at a Thanksgiving dinner given last week by the losing team and its captain, Mrs. Grace Heaney.

The church has setting for the event. Red berried shrubbery formed a background for other decorations, which included a horn of plenty and quantities of fruits.

Mrs. Daisy Kroese presided as toastmistress. Mrs. Edna Bichan was speaker, telling of her travels in Scotland. Mrs. A. V. Grey brought the program to a close with a Thanksgiving story.

Fifty members of the class took part in the affair.

Announcements

Santa Ana chapter D. A. R. will meet Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. O. S. Catland, 419 Wellington avenue. "Americanization" will be the program theme, with Judge Homer C. Ames as speaker. There will be special music. Members are reminded that dues will be payable at this time. The meeting will be preceded by a session of the board scheduled for 2 p. m.

The next regular meeting of the Social section will have no December meeting, since members of the club will be brought together for a dessert bridge party which the Philanthropy section and the ways and means committee will join in giving Tuesday, December 11 at 1 p. m. in Veterans hall. There will be a bazaar in connection with the affair.

The next regular meeting of the Social section will be a January event in the home of Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, 2403 Santiago avenue.

CHIC FOR THE MATRON AND THE COLLEGE GIRL

PATTERN 2073

BY ANNE ADAMS

Dresses which are as smartly becoming to the young matron as they are to the college girl are few and far between, but the lovely design which we bring you today is just that. Dolman sleeves and an engaging pussy-cat bow combine to give the bodice an air of "this season chic." The slender skirt panels, back and front, are effectively used to produce that long, smooth unbroken line for which every woman who knows what's what in figure flattery earnestly seeks. For a snug and smart winter frock, make the dress of green or brown velvet or crepe and use metal-flecked crepe for the contrasting sleeves.

Pattern 2073 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Plans Introduced for New Year's Ball at Country Club

With Thanksgiving virtually upon us and the Yule holidays just around the corner, it is expected that Santa Ana Country club members should take thought to a gala celebration of the climax of the holidays, the New Year's Eve ball.

For the past several years club members have had to seek their New Year's gayeties elsewhere, as Thanksgiving and Christmas dances have interfered with any possibility of celebrating on New Year's Eve. So this year it was decided to forego any Christmas party, and center all activities in planning for a gala speeding of the old year and welcome to the new.

Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen was recently appointed as dance chairman for the year, and immediately upon acceptance of the post, introduced her idea of the big holiday party. It has found favor with everyone and bids fair to attract the biggest crowd of the season.

Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock and there will be a midnight supper after which dancing will be resumed. Mr. and Mrs. MacMullen will have as assistant hosts, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Plagg, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Drum, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May, Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Huber and Richard Ewert.

Section Members Enjoy Afternoon of Bridge and Anagrams

Santa Ana Woman's club Social section members took part in a pleasant afternoon yesterday as guests in the home of Mrs. Earl Ladd, 1325 Cypress avenue. Mesdames W. M. Wells, William Whitehead and D. V. Wilson joined with Mrs. Ladd in entertaining.

The hostesses served a dessert course consisting of pumpkin pie, nut bread and coffee to precede games planned for the afternoon. Tables were eloquent of autumn with their centerpieces of grape clusters on colorful maple leaves. Pottery was used in serving.

Eight tables of cards were in play. Mrs. E. M. Waycott and Mrs. J. C. Clark held high scores in bridge and anagrams.

Chrysanthemums arranged throughout rooms of the home provided an appropriate setting for the event.

The section will have no December meeting, since members of the club will be brought together for a dessert bridge party which the Philanthropy section and the ways and means committee will join in giving Tuesday, December 11 at 1 p. m. in Veterans hall. Birthday Party Comes As Surprise to Celebrant

Miss Odessa Miller's birthday was celebrated in the late night when Miss Ellen Bowman and Mrs. Fred Johnson entertained with a surprise party in the latter's home, 351 Wakeham avenue.

The evening was spent in playing bridge. Prizes went to Miss Miller and Herbert McConnell, who held high honors; Mrs. Howard Shugart and Mr. Johnson, low.

Decorated birthday cake and ice cream were served at linen-spread tables.

Present with the honoree, Miss Miller were Messrs. and Mesdames Howard Shugart, Herbert McConnell, Clarence Van Deusen, Fred Johnson; Miss Elsie Etchison, Miss Ellen Bowman, this city; Grover Gilmore and Guthrie Gilmore, Long Beach; Mrs. George Yepsen, Chicago, Ill.

Host Quartet Presides At Pre-Thanksgiving Dinner and Bridge

That hospitality that seems characteristic of the Thanksgiving season, was embodied last night in a dinner and bridge party at which Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Liebig and Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul entertained more than 60 guests in Santa Ana Country club.

Quantities of flowers, the glow of countless pale green candles, attractive appointments of the dinner tables ranged in the solarium, and the cordial welcome accorded by the hosts, all indicated the holiday to be celebrated tomorrow.

The menu too was a holiday one, and its successive courses were enjoyed amidst the massed golden yellow chrysanthemums which formed table decorations with the many candles.

Following the dinner hour guests repaired to the lounge where the fire, blazing cheerfully on the wide hearth, made a most inviting location for bridge tables grouped nearby. Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Liebig had arranged for a division of the players into two groups, with the long library table serving as the dividing line. This plan avoided the customary complications of progressing in contact.

Mrs. George S. Briggs, Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill and Mrs. Don Andrews gave assistance in various features of the evening, including the collecting of scores. Prizes for high scoring went to Mrs. Adair Zaiser and George Raymer in one section, and to Dr. Frank H. Paterson and Mrs. Paterson in the other. In addition the hostesses had planned a "family group," and of these players, Mrs. Don Andrews, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Liebig, scored high and received a prize. It was disappointing that minor illnesses among children of the Dr. Casius Paul and the Felton Browning families took those two couples away from participation in the gayeties of the "family table."

For the family dinner, you might add a small crumb omelette to each vegetable plate, hot rolls or muffins, and some sort of baked dessert to utilize all that oven heat.

Have you ever made a crumb omelette? It's very swell food, lady. Grate the crumb part of stale bread until you have 1 or 2 cups depending on number to be served (1 cup for 3). Use an egg for each person. Whip the eggs until they are a light froth, then add 2 tablespoons thin cream to the pitcher for each egg used. In the meantime the crumbs have been sauteing in butter. Float a little butter in a small hot pan, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and dip up a ladleful of the frothed egg and cream. Sprinkle with crumbs and cook quickly on stove and in oven, fold and serve at once. They are a bit of a bother, but just wait until you eat one!

TODAY'S RECIPES
Lemon Hard Sauce
1 1/2 cups powdered sugar, sifted
1-4 cup soft butter
Grated rind of 1-2 lemons
2 tbsps. lemon juice
Cream butter to the waxy stage; gradually add the sugar, the beating continuing constantly. When butter and sugar are both mixed, work in the grated lemon rind and juice, adding the latter drop by drop. Chill until ready to serve.

The calory total for the hard sauce is 1700. An average serving would be around 100 calories.

Country String Beans with Tomato-Cheese Sauce
1 No. 21-2 can string beans
1 small onion, finely minced
1 tbsps. minced parsley
2 slices bacon, diced and crisped

Scoop out the crisp bacon dice and fry the minced onion gently, then add to the drained beans, with parsley and bacon dice. Heat in a double boiler. When served pour over them a sauce made by using—

1 can tomato soup
1 cup grated cheese
1-4 cup cream
Paprika, salt, pepper, and a pinch of cayenne.

Heat the can of soup, add the cheese and stir until melted, then add the cream, whip well, season and draw off the stove.

A large can of beans will serve six generously. The calories per person will run approximately 120, including the rich sauce.

Thursday: Sour Cream Cake with whipped cream frosting covered with flaked chocolate. Sum'shus food gifts, for any special occasion.

Current Events Group Plans January Party For Husbands

Yesterday's meeting of Ebell Current Events section in the clubhouse closed 1934 activities for the group, which will resume activities in January with a dinner party honoring husbands of members.

Since the December session of the section would fall on Christmas, it was decided not to convene next month. December and January hostess committees will join in planning the dinner party, an event scheduled for Tuesday, January 22 in the clubhouse.

Hostesses at the latest meeting were Mesdames Harvey Spears, Nat Neff and Harold Nelson. Persimmons and cotoneaster were among appointments used in carrying out a winter decorative theme.

Miss Edith Hyatt, interior decorator, was speaker of the afternoon.

Mrs. Hugh Shields, leader, was in charge of the short business interval which preceded bridge games. Gifts in pottery were awarded Mrs. Dorsey Clayton and Mrs. Shields, who scored first and second high.

Present were Mesdames Dorsey Clayton, George Osterman, C. E. Bressler, R. G. Hewitt, Howard Rapp, W. W. Warner, John Kettler, Hubert Nall, Elton McKamy, Walter Hickey, Loyal King, Harvey Bennett, Herbert Krahling, John Backus, C. J. Cogan, Harvey Gardner, Hugh Shields and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Dinner

Lemon and Pineapple Cocktail
Vegetable Plate:
3 tbsps. mashed cauliflower
1 stuffed baked tomato
2-inch square baked squash
Apple-raisin salad
Black coffee or clear tea
Calory total 475.

Slice a round of pineapple and add pineapple and lemon juice to fill the (sherbet) cocktail glass. This will be last call this year for baked stuffed tomato. Cut the stem end off and hollow out a trifle. Make a dressing out of canned corn, or any left over vegetable, bread crumbs, cream and butter. Top the tomatoes with this mixture and bake in a slow oven until the tomatoes are soft. The squash could be baked before the tomatoes are ready, then the oven slowed down.

For the family dinner, you might add a small crumb omelette to each vegetable plate, hot rolls or muffins, and some sort of baked dessert to utilize all that oven heat.

THE TINYMITES

Miss Gander seemed real tickled. She said, "My, but you are kind to me. I wish that I could take you Tinties on my long sky ride. My carriage, though, is rather small and so there is not room for all." "Well, maybe you could take me all alone," we Duncy cried.

"Oh, don't do that," said Doty. "He is as mischievous as can be. I'm sure he'd bring you bad luck, and perhaps spoil your fine flight. 'Tis better that he stay right here, and then you will have naught to fear. Of course you have no driver, but I guess that is all right."

"Why, sure it is," Miss Gander cried. "I do not need one for my ride. The ducks you've hitched in front will take me where I want to go.

"They've traveled through the air before and, goodness, how they love to soar. By mere shouting at them, I can travel fast or slow." Then Mister Mystic man said, "Well, I guess Miss Gander had best tell you Tinymites goodbye. She has a long, long ways to go."

"Don't ask her destination, please. She will not tell you, though you tease. However, I'll explain her trip, when I want you to know."

"Oh, goody! It's a mystery," cried Doty. "That appeals to me. I'll bet that it concerns us. Am I wrong, or am I right?"

The Mystic Man just smiled. Said he, "You'll simply have to wait and see! And, now, we'll watch Miss Gander ride, until she's out of sight."

Then to the ducks in front he cried, "Miss Gander's ready for her ride. Now, don't bump into any clouds, as you sail through the sky."

The next thing that the Tinties knew, right off the ground the two ducks flew. It wasn't long until they had the carriage 'way up high.

FAKE REMEDIES FOR DEAFNESS WILL BE BROADCAST

"Fake Remedies for Deafness" will be the topic of tonight's broadcast by Miss Ruth Bartlett, instructor of Lip Reading in the Adult Education Department, Santa Ana City Schools, from KREG at 6 o'clock, which will point out to deaf there are so many reputable otologists in one's own home town that it is folly to seek 2,000 miles for medicines and "cures."

The American Medical Association has an especially appointed committee to investigate all the so-called cures for deafness, Miss Bartlett said, "with the result that many of them are no longer being advertised. We wish to give warning to everyone suffering from a hearing defect that every case of deafness has its individual angles and cannot be treated at a long distance."

"I will tell something of the contents of these fake 'cures' and just why they do more harm than good. I have been asked many times if airplane flights have been used as a cure for deafness. I will explain just why this does not cure."

DIAMOND RING DEATH WILL BE RADIO SUBJECT

"Death for a Diamond Ring" is the title of tonight's true-to-life dramatization on the "Calling All Cars" broadcast from KREG at 8 o'clock as presented by the Rio Grande Oil Company.

The story tells how the body of an Oakland business man who had been found for two weeks was found under a bridge in Los Angeles and how, by the collection of a tremendous amount of circumstantial evidence both in Los Angeles and Oakland, the murderers were caught and convicted.

Chief of Police James E. Davis of Los Angeles and Chief of Police Bodie Walman of Oakland will be guest speakers during the broadcast.

An odd coincidence, at the time of the murder which will be dramatized tonight, both Chief Davis and Chief Walman were detectives and each had charge of the investigation of this case in his respective city.

SPRIT OF COOPERATION REASON FOR THANKSGIVING TOMORROW

The seventy-first annual observance of Thanksgiving for the whole country will be held tomorrow.

While various sections of the country had Thanksgiving days prior to that time, beginning at Plymouth, we believe the year after its founding by the Pilgrims, there was no one set day and no day observed throughout the nation until 1863.

It was after the Civil war had reached its high-water mark. The battle of Gettysburg had been fought and won by the Union army. Lee's forces, dispirited and almost crushed, had made their way back into Virginia and Abraham Lincoln came out with a proclamation, setting aside the last Thursday in the month of November for the observance, by the nation, of Thanksgiving.

Two paragraphs from that proclamation, in which the president spoke specifically of the things that had been done are interesting. He said:

In the midst of a civil war of unequal magnitude and severity, which has sometimes seemed to foreign states to invite and provoke their aggressions, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theater of military conflict; while that theater has been greatly contracted by the advancing armies and navies of the Union.

Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the ax has enlarged our borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battle-field, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom.

With the progress of the years, we have been forced to look more deeply for reasons for the Thanksgiving spirit than those which suggested simply the material benefits which have come to us and ours.

We are forced now to consider that the reasons for gratitude lie in opportunities presented to us rather than in accomplishments. We can express our gratitude that the Creator has done His part in full measure to grant to every human being a full and abundant life; that any failure in that achievement is not due to limitations of His hand.

The Lord of the harvest has poured out the bounties that can produce material comforts to all who live in our great country. The failure for some to enjoy these bounties is not the failure of Him who created the earth and produced the harvest.

We have known no better way than, through legislation, to destroy nature's productions, and have done it in the interest of working out some program to feed and clothe the very ones who needed the things we destroyed.

But should we not be thankful that at least the material benefits have been presented to us, that the same Creator who has showered these benefits upon us has given us a mind and a conscience, has given us a sense of fellowship and a spirit of brotherhood, has endowed us with an unquenchable spirit of quest that is endeavoring to find the way out?

Yes, we are thankful for the opportunity. We are thankful that there are hundreds of thousands, and possibly millions, in the world who are unselfishly consecrated to a program of co-operation, of co-operating with Him in bringing plenty and cheer and a great life to all.

We should, on this Thanksgiving day, keep this spirit regnant in our lives, and in the life of the nation. We are thankful that this spirit seems to dominate the life of our Chief Executive and most of those whom he has selected as his counsellors.

We can express this gratitude tomorrow that we have the life and health and purpose to carry out this program. While most of us will have our material needs supplied, our gratitude should be not so much for them, as for the privilege which we have in using ourselves in playing a part in the plan of this Lord of the harvest to see that the weakest, as well as the strongest, shall have the same unbounded cause for thanksgiving and rejoicing that we may have.

FEDERAL AGENTS HANDICAPPED

Word comes from Barrington, Illinois, that in an attempted round-up of a criminal, two Federal agents were killed by machine-gun fire from the criminal, while the Federal agents were not so armed.

It appears that in the criminal's car were himself, his wife and another man, and being hotly pursued by the officers' car, they deliberately turned to the side of the road, let the Federal car pass, which it did, and blocked the road.

When the Federal men emerged from the car, they were destroyed by the fire from the machine gun of the criminals. The news dispatches say that the revolver and shotgun of the officers were unequal to the machine gun of the criminal.

It would appear that these Federal agents had been tracing their quarry for some time and then, when they found him, they were unequal to the occasion because they were not as well armed as was the public enemy.

Certainly these two deaths can be traced with fairly good reason to a failure, on the part of the officials in charge. Not only are they mute witnesses to that fact, but these dangerous criminals are at liberty, likely to destroy others before they are taken, again because of failure of those in charge to adequately plan for that occasion which they were spending every energy to meet.

However, this sad fact does not detract one iota from the heroism displayed by these officers in deliberately stopping their car and jumping out to meet one of the most dangerous criminals known to be at large. The sad part of it is that men should be sent to what might be almost considered certain death, without a chance equal to that which the criminals enjoy.

SAAR CRISIS APPROACHES

A show-down between France and Germany in the plebiscite in the Saar is fast approaching. Authorities in France declared that they will not release this whole valley to Germany, regardless of the plebiscite, and there is little question but that the vote will be preponderantly in favor of Germany.

France knows full well that if she is to have a fight with Germany, the sooner she has it, the probabilities are the better she is off. Germany undoubtedly is becoming hourly stronger. France has the best organized and equipped army in Europe.

There is no question what would happen if there had been such a contest a year ago. It would almost seem that a real excuse or reason is being sought.

Fortunately for the United States, there is no reason which we can see now that would embroil the United States into this difficulty, even though other nations might be engaged, such as Russia and Japan. But it isn't very long after a conflict of any kind starts, when things are done by one army or the other that cause neutral nations to believe that their sovereignty and neutrality are challenged to the extent that they must also enter.

However, with the present state of public opinion in this country, as probably in England also, there will be more tardiness than there was in the world war, and surely another conflict could not last for as long a period.

To be sure, this was said in 1913. It was declared then that the nations could not afford it, that civilization would be destroyed, etc., etc.

No nation is financially equipped today as well as it was then, and the credit of all of them is gone.

MINER RELEASED AFTER SEVENTEEN HOURS

Owen Terry, mine superintendent, had not been imprisoned in his mine a sufficient length of time to have focused the attention of the nation upon his plight, for he was imprisoned only seventeen hours before he was released. But by tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, if he had not been released we would all have been distressed by his plight. Another man was killed in the slide which pinned Terry between two mine supports which restrained a boulder from falling on him. Rains had weakened the roof of the mine, causing the slide. We can be thankful that we don't have to think of Terry lying there helpless in the cold and the damp tomorrow, and his wife and child who were already sensing their bereavement.

Long Range Weather Forecasts Not Reliable

San Bernardino Sun

Weather prophets, official and unofficial, say we are going to have record-breaking cold weather this winter. Blizzards are to rage with unprecedented fury. The lower range on the thermometer will have the mercury pretty much to itself. Unfortunately these forecasts hardly ever specify precisely where such weather is to prevail, and so they may turn out to be both right and wrong.

The United States covers such a large area that it enjoys a great variety of weather, and it is more than likely that one or more sections of it will indeed experience some abnormally cold weather before spring. Other sections, however, may have abnormally high temperatures at the same time.

Just recently, for example, the Atlantic seaboard enjoyed lovely Indian summer weather. The situation may be reversed next week or next month and a cold wave hit the East.

There is the same variety in rainfall. One section may experience a severe drought while another suffers from floods and torrential rains. Even in so small an area as Great Britain, drought and excessive rainfall may occur in different sections at the same time, as they did last summer.

It might be amusing as well as instructive to keep a record of the long-range forecasts, and then check on them through a season.

Scientists say the human brain works hardest in its first year. That's while baby is trying to figure out why all the grown-ups around him are doing such crazy things.

Reading Has First Place

Riverside Daily Press

According to a survey of the National Recreation association, reading in America continues to hold first place in the use of leisure time. Newspapers and magazines topped the list as would have been expected, but the reading of serious books was found to have made a surprising jump over the survey of 1922.

Other forms of recreation were the movie, radio, visiting, conversation and automobile riding for pleasure. Among sports swimming made the greatest gain. Out of a survey which included answers from 5000 persons, 71 per cent of whom were employed full or part time, it was found that swimming has the greatest number of followers. No explanation was ventured for this by those who conducted the survey. Swimming, however, is regarded as one of the best pastimes from a physical standpoint, at least. But not all of us can indulge in its beneficial results.

More Truth Than Poetry

SULPHUR AND MOLASSES

On learning that doctors are again prescribing them for children.

Sulphur and molasses!
When I was very young
To my disgust
These things were thrust
On my protesting tongue.
Though I was rarely ailing
And suffered small distress
Or pain or ache
I had to take
Each night this dreadful mess.

In vain I uttered protests;
My jaws apart were pried
Just far enough
To let the stuff
Seep into my inside.
The horror of those doses
I never can forget,
And though my brow
Is frosted now
I seem to taste them yet.

Sulphur and molasses!
Can it indeed be true
That children still
Their tumms must fill
With this unwholesome brew?
To silver on my forehead
I'm fully reconciled
And though my hair
Grows thin and spare
I'm glad I'm not a child.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

CUTTING OUT THE CUT-THROATS

Business everywhere has long demanded and is now demanding that government help it get rid of cut-throat competition.

The extent to which the Roosevelt administration was willing to go in helping business eliminate unfair trade practices of the cut-throat sort was the main reason why business generally embraced the NRA. Very real headway has been made in throttling the cut-throat as we have been long accustomed to define him.

Business was willing to swallow a lot it did not like in return for freedom from the menace.

The cut-throat of traditional definition has been the man who slashed prices below the prevailing level and played havoc with the sales possibilities of the rest of the business world. And so all sorts of attempts, some of doubtful wisdom, have been made under NRA to raise and stabilize prices at a level that will permit satisfactory profits for the business community in general.

In so far as the cut-throat competitor can slash his prices because he is sweating his labor or diluting the quality of his goods and hiding the dilution by various tricks of the trade, he is a target at which clean leadership in business must shoot. There should be no room in America for the manufacturer or retailer who lowers prices by grinding his labor or swindling his customers.

But, when we have taken care of the menace of this sort of cut-throat, there is another brand of cut-throat to whom we should turn attention.

This other brand of cut-throat competitor is the man who is a menace to business not because he cuts prices too low but raises prices too high. He and his kind, when they band together to raise prices higher than they need to be raised, put goods progressively further and further out of the reach of the consuming millions and thus curtail the total amount of business that can be done.

Here is the next field for business reform.

THE GANGFIGHT

Once Tony and Phillip were friends. That was when they were three years old. When they reached the age of ten something happened and one punched the other. They did not speak for a few days and when they did the talk ended in a threatening and wordy battle. The usual crowd gathered, eager for a fight. "Soak him, Tony." "Don't take anything off him." "Go on, land him one on the chin, Phil. You don't have to stand for that."

Next day the line was drawn with Tony's friends on one side and Phil's on the other. The leaders really had nothing against each other. But the followers were rearing to go and at the first sign of relenting on the part of either Tony or Phil they roared for blood. "Turning yellow, are you? Go on, soak him." And the war was renewed.

And that is how the fights became daily affairs. The angry neighbors whose windows were broken, whose children were frightened, began complaining. They lodged complaints with the parents of the leaders. The puzzled parents found themselves the storm centers of a wrathful neighborhood. They protested and warned and scolded, they called on the parents of the other boys interested in the war, all to no avail.

Somebody had the bright idea of calling in the police. They thought Tony and Phil ought to be arrested for making nuisances of themselves. A friendly neighbor who thought arrest was not the thing for the boys called on the school principal and asked him to do something. After thinking it over for a few minutes he called in the Scout Master. "They are good boys. Whatever has gotten into them is more than I can imagine. I don't want them arrested but what can we do? This gang fighting with sticks and stones and boots and howls is driving the community to extremity."

"We will organize them into cub packs and let them get rid of their gang spirit harmlessly. They need something to do just now. They feel the need of the close companionship of the gang and this is the only way they can have it."

And she hurry up went and got it and The Grate Artie and Benny Detective Bewro got a reward of a cent apiece.

Once we get them started the fights will be forgotten."

It was not as easy as the Scout Master made it sound. The two packs were rivals and they still longed to fight it out. It took time and patience and much teaching but with the whole hearted co-operation of the community it was accomplished in time.

Gang fighting is an expression of the boys' instinct to band for defense. It has to be directed. It cannot be wiped out with a wave of the hand and a stamp of the foot. It can be directed and trained so that it merges into the more mature growth of adolescence. The community must provide for this training in some way. Either form such clubs in the school, or the church, or support the Scouts. Or better yet, support all three. We make a grave mistake when we abandon the small boys to their own devices.
